Girl Freed by Jury In 'Gossip' Murder!

FATAL SHOT IN 'MAIN STREET' LOVE FIGHT 'ACCIDENT'

Relatives Of 'Other Woman'
To Demand Indictment
And Murder Trial

CHICAGO, May 21.—Lucille Wunsch, 16-year-old Thornton High school student, walked from the coroner's inquest here this afternoon a free girl—exonerated of the murder of Agnes Simmeck, her father's alleged affinity, by a vote of 2 to 1.

"We, the jury, believe that when the said Lucille Wunsch was suffering from hysterical frenzy due to the scuffle between her mother and the deceased, she accidentally fired the shot which killed the deceased."

"We therefore exonerate her and hold her blameless."

This was the verdict of the six men who sat in judgment upon the calm, self-composed school girl.

It was Riverdale's manner of writing finis to an unpleasant chapter.

She pleaded the "unwritten law." And the quiet thinking citizens of old fashioned Riverdale, where "love triangles and murders are a thing apart," accepted her plea.

Immediately after the verdict, however, relatives of Miss Simmeck declared they would not be content to accept a disposition of the case passively.

"Our sister is dead," said Herman Simmeck, a brother. "A coroner's jury verdict exonerating her murderer is not the end. We will see that justice is done."

"We will go to the state's attorney and demand that this girl be indicted and tried and hanged, as should be the fate of anyone, man, woman, or child, who takes the life of another."

Long before the inquest opened every seat and all available standing room at the little mortuary, where it was to be held, was taken.

INSANITY VICTIM

MODESTO, Cal., May 21.—Becoming violently insane while on a Southern Pacific train en route to his home in San Francisco, John Schultz, 35, was overpowered at Modesto by passengers and members of the train crew and removed to the county jail here today. He will be removed to San Francisco under guard. Before he was overpowered, Schultz succeeded in removing most of his clothing.

BIG CROWD AT CITY HALL CHEERS ACTION ON HIGHWAY PAVING

Expected Fight Over Kind of Material
To Be Used Fails to Result; Cost
Of Improvement $500,000, Estimate

San Fernando road will be paved with eight inches of solid concrete its entire length within the city limits of Glendale, at a cost of nearly $500,000.

Resolution of intention for improvement of the road was adopted at the meeting of the City Council today, after a petition signed by 70.3 per cent of all property owners along San Fernando road had been presented.

The council chamber was packed until standing room was at a premium by sponsors of the solid concrete paving, although representatives of National top paving material and sponsors of open specifications asphaltic concrete top were present.

There was no argument nor discussion. By force of numbers alone the solid concrete backers won a bloodless victory. Motion to adopt the resolution of intention providing for a solid concrete roadway was made by S. C. Kinch and seconded by Councilman W. F. Tower. It passed unanimously. There was silence for a moment, and then from scores of throats the council members were given lusty cheers.

Causes Surprise
Even the sponsors of the solid concrete movement were surprised at the lack of opposition to their petition. They had come to the council chamber prepared to fight. A resolution of intention providing for National patent paving, and another adopting specifications for National top had been drawn up and were resting on City Clerk Van Wile's desk awaiting proper action by the council. Patent paving representatives who have been in Glendale in the interests of their product for the past few weeks had declared their confidence of selection of patent paving by the council.

FRENCH SAVE FEZ FROM RIFFIANS

Heroic Charge Of Bayonets
Routs Tribesmen At Gate
Of Important City

PARIS, May 21.—Heroic bayonet charges by French troops have saved Fez from Abdel Krim and his hordes of Riffian tribesmen, the French foreign office announced today.

Fez, the most important city in French Morocco has been the objective of the Riffians, and for weeks they have been closing in on it, isolating French outposts and influencing native troops through religious fervor and promises of war loot, to join them.

General Colombat, according to the French communique, engaged the enemy yesterday northwest of Fez.

In massed formation with drawn bayonets the French drove back the Riffians while airplanes overhead and distant artillery completed the rout. Sixty Riffian dead were left on the field.

International News Service dispatches from Paris and Tangiers yesterday stated the French and Riffian forces were preparing for a decisive battle; and, as Fez was the objective of the Riffians, this communique from the French government would indicate the French forces had broken the hold of Abdel Krim in French Morocco.

SPLIT LOOMS ON MARKET INQUIRY

U.S.C.C. Convention Divided
On Question Of Grain
Speculation Quiz

By FRED J. WALKER
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, May 21.—

A wide-open split in the ranks of the United States Chamber of Commerce appeared imminent today over Chicago grain market speculation, now being investigated by the department of agriculture.

A faction of four millers and wholesalers headed by B. J. Rothwell of Boston, president of the Bay State Milling Co., announced immediate approval would be sought on a resolution censuring gambling on the grain market.

Charging that "excessive speculation of the last few months was destructive to the legitimate purposes of the exchange," Rothwell awaited the opening of the board of directors meeting to present a resolution which would bar excessive fluctuations in the grain market due to speculation.

Rothwell's move today climaxed a series of conferences between various exchange officials during the past few months looking toward revision of rules, it was learned.

The split was expected in board circles. If the resolution is determined of "national importance" it would be immediately presented to the resolutions committee which meets later.

Factions in the national millers' federation and many prominent wholesale grocers are backing the resolution because of belief their legitimate business is

FINDLAY, Ohio, May 21.—A heavy storm struck Findlay late this afternoon, doing considerable damage, but inflicting no loss of life. Reports that the town had been wiped out, telephoned to Lima and other cities, were without foundation.

INVESTIGATE MAIL ROBBERY AT ST. LOUIS

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Federal secret service men arrived in Los Angeles today to launch an investigation planned to link John W. Worthington, Chicago's "Wolf of La Salle street," with a huge St. Louis mail robbery. Re-arrest of Worthington, now dying in a Glendale hospital, was seen as a possibility, when the federal agents began a check on $28,000 worth of stocks and bonds held by Worthington. The check was to determine if the stocks were part of the St. Louis loot, investigators said.

DOROTHY ELLINGSON MAY NOT FACE TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Dorothy Ellingson may be saved the horrors of another trial "by torture." While defense plans were still uncharted definitely today, District Attorney Matthew Brady announced that if the 17-year-old matricide would come into court and enter a plea of guilty to a degree of murder, his office was ready to recommend her commitment to an institution where her "conscience might enable her to work out her regeneration and where any good that is in her makeup may come to the surface."

FACE TREASON TRIAL

Acquitted on Bribe Charge

TOPEKA, Kan., May 21.—Jonathan M. Davis, former governor of Kansas, was holding a veritable levee this morning following his acquittal in three hours and ten minutes last night on charges of conspiracy and soliciting a bribe for a pardon in the case of Walter Grundy, "boy banker" of Hutchinson.

In the meantime state and county attorneys were conferring to prepare the case against Russell Davis, son of the former governor, and Carl J. Peterson, former banking commissioner, growing out of the investigation which brought the charges against the governor. It was considered certain today, in view of the fact that evidence in all the cases was presented in the case just closed, that the Peterson and Russell Davis charges would not be brought to trial.

Davis and his family will return to Bourbon county today where the former governor expects to pay strict attention to his farm there for the remainder of the summer. He refused to discuss his political future.

Four ballots were taken by the jurors and, until the final ballot, they stood 10 to 2 for acquittal.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The foundation for the first nationwide commercial aviation system in the United States was laid here today at a secret meeting of financial leaders from New York, Cleveland, Detroit, Dayton, Philadelphia and Washington.

Details of the meeting, held behind locked doors, were lacking but it is understood it was attended largely by stockholders of the National Air Transport, Inc., and that a telegram was sent to an agent at Wilmington, Del., to file incorporation papers for the new service which had been held up pending today's meeting.

Colonel Paul Henderson, assistant postmaster-general, represented the government at the meeting, it is said.

A part of the program, it is said, contemplates a commercial air mail service between New York and Chicago to connect later with the gigantic coast to coast and Canada to Mexico system, which will have contact with every important city in the country.

Grand Jury Hears Ten More 'Merger' Victims

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—With ten additional witnesses brought before the county grand jury today to give their versions of the $6,000,000 "railway merger" project of Thomas Hennessy and Harry D. Hibbs, "ten for one" brokers, the investigation was drawing to a close. More than thirty-five witnesses, most of them investors in the project, were ordered before the jury.

Hennessy and Hibbs, at liberty under bail of $150,000, are alleged to have obtained more than $300,000 from Southern California residents in the scheme represented to cover a combine of many of the country's railways.

THIRSTY RUSH HOTELS FOR 4.4 BEER

Windsor, Can., Across River
From Detroit, Throws
Bars Wide Open

By FRANK H. FRAYSHUR
For International News Service
WINDSOR, Ontario, May 21.—
It was a motley and polygot crew that was assembled here today. At 7 o'clock this morning when the first schooner of 4.4 per cent beer was shoved across the table of one of the leading hotels, there was no teeming crowd pawing at the door to get in. They were already in, but not in the countless numbers that the occasion presaged and the bulk was Canadians.

By nightfall, however, the Canadians say, the real gauge of the situation will be seen. Crowds are expected then. After that, those places that have cornered practically all of the brew available at present will settle back to see whether the business will boom.

S. A. Griggs, former proprietor and manager of the Walkerville Brewery, Ltd., and still a stockholder and director, doubted the brew's ability to kick stiffly and said that even seven bottles of it would act mildly unless the drinker was endowed with an uncanny imagination.

The result of the new situation here will be watched with interest by prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists in the United States. The important angle will be whether the availability of the light beer will hurt the bootlegging business in Ontario and Detroit.

The proximity of Windsor to Detroit makes it possible for Detroiters to get the 4.4 per cent
brew without great inconvenience.
Prohibitionists are waiting to see whether bootleggers of 9 per cent beer in Detroit will suffer "hard times" or whether business will continue as usual.

In some circles it was believed

Sargent Hits Critics' Hints Of 'Dry' Fight

WASHINGTON, May 21.—
Attorney-General Sargent today assailed critics who have charged that lack of harmony between the justice and treasury departments had hampered the enforcement of the prohibition law.
Sargent said there was "reasonable" competition between the two departments.
The charges were made by witnesses before the Councils' committee investigating the bureau of internal revenue.

Sargent pledged the fullest aid of his department in the government's latest drive to make the nation "bone dry."

'Loud Speakers' Given Carte Blanche In City

The whole, wide world can shout its message to Glendale via the route of radio loud speakers, and get away with it, police ruled today, following complaint by residents of the North Adams street district that they had been unjustly reported to the police because they had a little loud speaker in their home.

Patrolman Hamilton answered the call to the home and found everything quiet and serene, he reported. The loud speaker made no more noise than a phonograph.
Loud speakers, as well as phonographs, should only be used at proper hours, however, the police declared. Mufflers will be required on all of them in neighborhoods where others can be disturbed during the late hours of night.

The sale of 4.4 per cent beer will lead within the year to legalizing of the sale of 9 per cent in Ontario. It is not thought that Frank P. Wilson, the Ontario member in the Canadian parliament, will stop after winning his fight for the present beverage.

Under the existing laws governing the sale of the new beer, none may be sold before 7 a. m. or after 11 p. m. As much as desired, however, can be purchased before 11 p. m. and drunk leisurely after that time.

TOURISTS ARE FLOCKING TO SOUTHLAND

Los Angeles Reports 20,000
Arriving Each Day For Shriners' Conclave

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 21.—
When they speak of tourists at the Los Angeles offices of the transcontinental railroads today they deal with thousands, the present influx mounting from a mere thousand the first of the week to an estimated 20,000 a day
by the last of this month.

The Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe all will share in this great transportation problem, but it has remained for the former to do something new in local annals in the way of accommodation of Shriners who will be here in full force the first of June.
It is the fifty-first annual session of the Imperial Council, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The Southern Pacific, in a bulletin issued today by F. S.
McGinnis, general passenger agent, reveals that it will have an out-of-doors station at the foot of North Broadway and Elysian park, where the hundreds of special cars will be sidetracked and temporary station facilities provided. Also, the Pullmans will serve to house the overflow from the hotels.

Observation cars will provide clubrooms and dining cars will be available for breakfast service.
The visiting Nobles will be transported by motorcar and street-cars to the Coliseum in Exposition park by direct routes and to the council sessions at the Biltmore in a more convenient manner than if the regular Southern Pacific station were used.

Three thousand Shriners and their families are already en route to Los Angeles by the way of the Apache trail, Arizona, the Carrizo gorge, San Diego, and will arrive here the first of the month.
The Southern Pacific offices are informed. But the vast numbers are coming directly to the conclave, leaving eastern centers late next week.

A schedule of all trains, all delegations and the hotels at which they have headquarters is now in course of preparation for the benefit of Southern California people who have friends among the visitors.

CONSTRUCTION OF HOME IMPORTANT

Effective Saving Is Made By Using Good Materials,
Reliable Builder

By DONALD R. GILLEN
Service Manager, Bentley Lumber Company.

One of the important considerations to the home builder is, naturally, to be able to secure a home properly constructed of good materials at the least possible expenditure. However, there are many dangerous pitfalls before him if he considers his project from a price standpoint alone. In the end you will find that cheaper bids will prove to be the more expensive, due to an inferior class of materials, poor workmanship and the constant need of repairs.

In other words, you are very apt to receive just what you are willing to pay for. The only way the low-priced contractor can fulfill his contract is by cutting corners on the actual money which he spends in labor and material.
The money saved in the original cost will soon be expended in repairs.

If you use poor materials, and employ a poor class of mechanics, you do not have any guarantee,
as you are very apt to have received just what you were willing to pay for. The Bentley Lumber Co. cannot emphasize too strongly the necessity of making your home building project a business proposition to the end that you receive for your money satisfaction, service, and a comfortable return on your investment should you ever care to sell.

FIRE STATION IS GIVEN ATTENTION

City Attorney Passes On Question Of Property
For No. 4 House

Purchase of a tract of land on which to erect fire station No. 4 cannot be made by the public safety department from the public service department of the city.
City Attorney Ray L. Morrow ruled in an opinion given to the City Council today. The property is already owned by the city, he said, and as such can be used for any purpose for which it is desired. He declared that the land can be used without formality for fire station purposes.

Peter Deiderick, superintendent of plant and production, in whose charge the property is now, indicated today that he would oppose such a move, however, unless his department is credited with a proper amount for the land.

Bids were opened today for the erection of fire station No. 5, and referred to City Manager V. B.
Stone and Councilman C. J. Hatz, chairman of the public safety committee. They follow:

R. H. Williams, $5261; J. J.
Burke, $5836; Barker & Gould, $6232; S. S. Beran, $6044.92;
Hellman Construction Co., $5319.
The structure will be of concrete and stucco, bungalow type, and will be erected on Chevy Chase drive near Verdugo Canyon road.
Land now in the hands of the public service department, on which it was planned to erect station No. 4 is located on Glorietta avenue near Verdugo Canyon road.

In an informal bid submitted today to the council the Marbel-ite Corporation of America agreed to install 147 light standards and complete the entire work on Colorado street from San Fernando road to the eastern city limits for a total cost of $3.50 per assessable front foot. The bid was ordered filed.

Commending the work of the fire department in the recent blaze that caused a loss to their furniture store at 117 South Brand boulevard, Hunt & Bowers this morning gave the city a check for $25, which was placed by the council in the firemen's relief fund.

At the request of the Chamber of Commerce, the city appropriated $165, to be used for the purpose of souvenirs to be given away during the Shrine convention, June 1 to 6.

Resolution of intention for the paving of Fifth street with three-inch macadam was ordered drafted by the city engineer, after a petition for improvement, signed by 72.5 per cent of the property owners, had been submitted to the council.

Police Learn Record Of Man Arrested Here

When Glendale police arrested
Thomas A. Lafferty here recently on a charge of burglary, on which he has been bound over to the superior court by Police Judge F. H.
Lowe, they captured a man whose police record extends over a period of twenty years, during which he has been arrested sixteen times and has been sentenced to serve a total of 147 years, had the sentences all run consecutively and had he served their full time.
A complete record of Lafferty, issued by C. S. Morrill, superintendent of the California state bureau of criminal identification and dale lodge, was followed by short talks by Inspector Dwight W. Stephenson of the Seventy-eighth district and A. I. Argobright, senior grand steward from Ventura.

These preceded the main address of the evening by Grand Master Reese.

The interest Masons and all men in America should take in the public schools of the nation was stressed by Reese in his talk. He praised lodges of the two San Fernando valley jurisdictions for their fine exemplification of Masonic principles and manifested a keen interest in plans for a new Masonic temple in Glendale and he promised his whole-hearted support and assistance to the temple project.

At the close of the meeting the grand master stood at the head of a long receiving line and greeted each Mason personally. The reception was one of the most impressive of the Masonic year.

the official change-over date.
The reason Glendale letter car-

Experiment In Steel Vault

Will a radio receiving set, without aerial or ground wires, locked in a steel vault, absolutely airtight, function the same as any set located in the parlor or outdoors? It will, if it is a Brunswick-Radiola super-heterodyne, Model 260.

This fact was conclusively proved yesterday afternoon, when a Brunswick-Radiola super-heterodyne receiving set was taken by the Brunswick Shoppe, 109 North Brand boulevard, to the big steel vault of the Glendale State bank, on East Broadway, for the experiment.

While employees of the bank and a representative of this paper acted as official observers, the receiving set was locked in the vault. This vault is made of steel, the walls being eleven inches thick, the floor and ceiling eight inches thick, and the heavy all-steel door being eight inches thick. There were no aerial or ground wires on the set.

B. M. Spencer, radiotician, operated the controls, and reception was equal in every way to reception anywhere else, despite the adverse conditions of being locked in a steel, air-tight vault. There was plenty of volume, and no change was noted in the reception when the steel door shut the set and observers off from the outside world, or when the door was swung open after the test had been conducted.

Those who witnessed the test were: William G. Bode, manager of the Brunswick Shoppe; B. M. Spencer, Meyer Lightner, publicity manager of the Brunswick Shoppe; George E. Farmer, cashier of Glendale State bank; A. S. Hall of The Glendale Evening News editorial staff, and several bank employees.

Shrine club members will co-operate with Shriners of Los Angeles in furnishing automobiles to carry visitors through the San Fernando valley. Members of Medinah Shrine of Chicago, the largest temple in the world, and Ararat Shrine of Kansas City, will be special guests of Glendale during the convention.

Inspection Tours They will be taken on inspection tours of the city and later driven through the Verdugo Hills. Stops will be made at a number of large orange groves north of Glendale where each Shriner and member of his party will be permitted to pluck an orange from the tree.

Detailed plans for decoration of the downtown section in Shrine colors will be worked out by H. C. Vandewater and Charles Hahn, representing the Shrine club, and representatives of the Glendale Merchants' association. Each merchant will be expected to do his individual decorating. Plans to have the city and the Chamber of Commerce co-operate in the general decorating scheme will be worked out.

Queen to Visit America

QUEEN MARIE of Rumania, who is expected to pay a royal visit to the United States, under the auspices of the Monday Opera club of New York City. Inset is the one-time Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, who came to America recently.

By MARGERY PICKARD
 Written for The Evening News.

NEW YORK, May 21.—That small, snobbish, ultra-exclusive circle of society revolving around the Monday Opera club is in that state described as agog over the promised visit under the club's sponsorship of Queen Marie of Rumania. It appears to be settled that the queen is coming over the first crowned head to land on American shores since King Albert of the Belgians and his queen were here.

The queen is understood to have been offered a contract with one newspaper syndicate to write her impressions of the United States. For New York City publication rights the price offered is truly regal, about $4000. Considering the remaining market for such a series, it is evident that Marie should be able to stop off for a shopping excursion in Paris on her way back to Bucharest.

What causes the agogging in the Monday Opera club circles is to put it in the words of a gossip weekly, "the memory of the graciousness of the (ex) Grand Duchess Cyril, who accepted reverence at ten dollars the bended knee. Her majesty doubtless will be less gracious, although perhaps the fee will be a bit higher. Say, twenty-five a curtsy, remembering that a reigning queen is worth more than a claiming grand duchess."

It was the Monday Opera club that sponsored the recent visit of the "claiming grand duchess" to this country.

BOARD ISSUES WARNING TO PLUMBERS

Ten Days Remain In Which To Take Examination For City License

With only ten days remaining in which to successfully pass examinations and obtain licenses to operate as master or journeymen plumbers in Glendale, a large number of plumbers who have failed to take the tests from a special examining board headed by Delos Jones, city plumbing inspector, are expected to be called off their jobs on June 1.

Until they have then passed the required tests and been issued licenses they cannot do plumbing work of any nature in Glendale. To accept plumbing work before a license has been issued would constitute a misdemeanor under the ordinance recently adopted by the City Council.

"We are willing to hold extra sessions for examination of applicants," said Jones today, "but the plumbers must do their part to co-operate. Probably half of all the plumbers in the city have taken the tests. The others have not. They will be required to leave their work on June 1 if they have failed to pass the examinations. We don't want to have to force any person to quit work, because of the great inconvenience it would be to other artisans as well. Requiring plumbers to stop work would hold up the plasterers, the paper hangers, painters, lathers, electricians and other building trades men. But the ordinance will be enforced. It is up to the plumbers to take the tests at once."

House Burglars Busy, But Business Is Poor

Three burglaries in Glendale last night netted the housebreakers valuables worth less than $75. From the home of H. J. Lewis, 939 East Glendale boulevard, a diamond bar pin valued at $50 was taken. H. E. Sparks, 115 South Kenwood street, reported that a string of pearls and an opal ring, each worth $10 was stolen. The home of O. Y. Fetterman, 1110 Moncada drive, was thoroughly ransacked, but after a check, Fetterman reported that no articles of value had been taken.

SUSPECT IS HELD

Paul Mendower, alleged to have stolen a bicycle owned by W. A. Magness, 120 West Park avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon at his home at the Parker house, Fifth street, Los Angeles on a charge of petit larceny. He is held in the Glendale jail in lieu of $100 bail. Hearing was set for 3 o'clock today before Police Judge F. H. Lowe.

THE COST OF WAR

We may talk of the fearful loss of life in wars, of the maimed, the women made paupers, the children orphaned and the hatred engendered, but it is money that talks, and if everyone really understood the enormous cost of war in dollars alone we would oppose it with all our strength. Speaking of war debts in millions or billions means little to the average person. To comprehend how much a war costs we should know something about the length of time it will take to pay for it.

The World war lasted four and a half years and America's participation in it about a year and a half. How many generations will have been born and passed on before Mars gives this country a receipt, "Paid in full"? How many years before the war will really be over?

The Civil war, according to the history books, lasted from 1861 to 1865. But it isn't over yet. Bitterness and hatred between the North and the South of sixty years ago have passed away. There were recently coined in the United States mint five million half dollars bearing the figures of Generals Lee and Jackson, with the legends: "Memorial to the valor of the soldier of the south" and "E Pluribus Unum." And northerners are encouraging and contributing to the great Confederate memorial at Stone Mountain in Georgia. Sixty years ago a large part of the country thought of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson as traitors and arch-rebels. Today we have placed them among the great and illustrious men of history, wrong in the time of their country's crisis, but none the less sincere and valorous patriots. We have gone far in eliminating bad feeling between the North and the South in the years since Lee surrendered, but we are still paying for that war.

Every month there are mailed out from Washington to the veterans of the Civil war or their widows, pension checks—in most cases all too small for the service rendered and the suffering endured. Nevertheless, sixty years after the war, and long after the problems growing out of the war have been adjusted, we are still paying for it.

Ignoring the cost of war in human life and suffering, and computing from the standpoint of economics alone, war is the most wasteful, senseless and absurd undertaking in which any country can engage.

IS JAZZ GOING?

Figures to prove that jazz music is about to sing its swan song are presented by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Reports from 54,000 radio fans to officials of the company show that in 1923 jazz broadcasting was favored by 75 per cent, while at the end of 1924 only 5 per cent expressed preference for programs of that sort.

This would truly seem to indicate that interest in jazz is waning, but there are so many elements entering into such an experiment that it is assuming a good deal to come to such a conclusion. No doubt one explanation of this apparent revolution is that the radio audience has changed in the last year more than that the tastes of the audience have changed.

While the radio has enabled a great many people, whose musical diet was heretofore confined to jazz, to partake of good music, even to philharmonic concerts and grand opera, it is hardly possible that the tastes of so many have improved—or should we say changed—in such a short time.

Whether or not this experiment proves anything, it is certain that the radio is doing a great work in musical culture, not possible through any other medium. There is no doubt that this modern Aladdin is elevating musical appreciation.

WHAT IS HAPPINESS?

A good many people are confused over what is happiness, simply because of the fact that happiness is nothing at all, says the New York American. It is not any thing, but a relation between two things: It is the relation between what you have and what you want. If you want more than you have, you are unhappy. If you have what you want most, you are happy—at least, until you want something else.

Thomas Edison says he has observed that it is mostly the insincere individual who says, "I am happy." "Nearly everybody wants something he hasn't got, and as things are constructed, what he wants is money—more money than he has in his pocket. But, after all, money can buy only a few things." The person whose life happiness depends upon money and the things it can buy does not know what real happiness is.

Thomas Carlyle long ago likened happiness to a common fraction. The numerator is what you have and the denominator what you want. Everyone knows that a common fraction can be multiplied by multiplying the numerator and also by dividing the denominator. The unwise are constantly trying to increase the numerator. The wise are those who decrease the denominator.

TRIBUTE TO WIDOWS

It seems to be quite the thing to elect a widow to fill the unexpired term of office held by her husband. Mrs. John Jacob Rogers of Lowell, Mass., has announced her candidacy for the seat in the House of Representatives left vacant by the death of her husband. Recently Mrs. Florence Prag Kahn of California, was elected to fill out the Congressional term of her husband, Julius Kahn. Mrs. Mae Nolan, also of California, sat for a time in her late husband's seat in the House, and Mrs. Nellie Ross was elected governor of Wyoming to complete the administration of her husband. Apparently these women have fulfilled their duties to the satisfaction of their constituents, though Mrs. Kahn and Mrs. Rogers are yet to be tried.

This custom is defended by some as a matter of sentiment, a graceful tribute to the widow and to the dead. If a woman can take up her husband's work where he laid it down, she is worthy to be honored by the people, but fitness for the work is the only excuse for a woman, or a man either, being elected to any office. It is right that women should vote and hold office, but sentiment has no place in politics.

LAST CALL FOR DINNER!

The Greek and The Gothic

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There are two outstanding styles of architecture, the Greek and the Gothic.

In common terms we may say that the Greek consists in plain lines and in simplicity and directness, while the Gothic is pointed and ornate.

Corresponding to these two styles of architecture there are two kinds of minds.

There is the Gothic type which functions in mystery, poetry, darkness and hints. It runs to ornament and adornment.

Such minds are those of Shakespeare and of William Yeats.

On the contrary, there is the Greek mind, which is the mind of a lawyer or a scientist.

It moves in straight lines. Its beauty lies in its simplicity.

There are some people who ridicule those who study art. They say that music is an adventitious advantage and that all beauty and adornment of life is entirely unnecessary. These are the Greek minds that ridicule the Gothic.

On the other hand there are Gothic minds that ridicule the Greek. They are artists who declaim against the business man, the lawyer, the doctor and the scientist. They call these men plodders, routiners, and use other opprobrious epithets.

There is the same conflict between the Fundamentalist and the Modernist. One seeks adornment, seeks mystery and darkness, and the other is all for simplicity and logic.

There is no necessity for conflict between the two types of mind. We need them both.

Perhaps the best sort of person is one that can appreciate the simplicity of the Greek and also the charm and mystery of the Gothic type.

Today's Poem

EMPIRES

How dear we deem that in this age

The end of all the ages lurks?

That God is printing the last page

Of the last volume of His Works?

Have we not canted of the mills

Of God, how very slow the grind?

Why should we fancy on our hills

Their sails are sped by earthly wind?

Persia and Egypt, Greece and Rome,

And vaster dynasties before,

Now faded in Time's monochrome.

In what do we surpass their lore?

Some things they knew that we know not.

Some things we know by them unknown.

But the axes of their wheels were hot

With the same frenzies as our own.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

What is the value of the so-called common sense in which we constantly hear oratorical persons expressing their belief?

If we inquire the purpose to which humanity puts it, we find: Humanity is conditioned by content.

If they are not satisfied, men become impatient; and if they are, it seems not to affect them.

The normal man moves between these two states, and he applies his understanding—his so-called common sense—to the satisfaction of his needs.

When his needs are satisfied his task is to fill-up the waste places of indifference.

Here, too, he is successful, if his needs are confined to what is nearest and most necessary.

But if they rise and pass beyond the sphere of ordinary wants, common sense is no longer sufficient. Then what is put forward as the genius of humanity is genius no more.

Blessed only with that "good hard common sense" we hear so much about, a man is ill-equipped mentally. He knows his way along the obvious main road of life, perhaps; but off it he is bewildered and lost.

Goethe averred that there is no piece of foolishness but can be corrected by intelligence or accident; no piece of wisdom but can miscarry by lack of intelligence or accident.

It was Goethe who opined: "Every great idea is a tyrant when it first appears; hence the advantages which it produces change quickly into disadvantages."

These are some of his observations concerning wisdom.

"Wisdom lies only in truth."

"The history of knowledge is a great fiasco in which the voices of the nations one after the other emerge."

"An intelligent man finds almost anything ridiculous, a wise man hardly anything."

"Forethought is simple, after thought manifold."

"The really foolish thing in men who are otherwise intelligent if that they fail to understand what another person says, when he does not exactly upon the right way of saying it."

Who's Who

Amateur wireless telegraphists from a score of nations and representatives of all branches of the science from many parts of the world recently convened for the First International Congress of the craft in Paris.

The gathering and its proceedings had as an outstanding figure an interesting personality in the realm of wireless—a French soldier whose achievements as inventor and as scientist have made him famous internationally.

He is General Ferrie, since 1923 in charge of all transmission from the great French wireless station which makes use of the Eiffel Tower. The station is one of the chief points of interest in Paris for wireless enthusiasts.

To the world's millions of wireless enthusiasts, the name of General Ferrie has been made familiar by a whole series of inventions and adaptations of wireless apparatus. His work in this direction long ago brought him public recognition, and his scientific value was shown by the fact of his election to the French Academy of Sciences.

During the World War, the general was head of the military wireless services of the French army. Under his direction was developed the remarkable organization through which the French and allied armies maintained mastery of the ether against the central powers until the day of final victory. His reward included the cross of honor and this was followed by his appointment as inspector general of military telegraphy and transmission.

General Ferrie was born fifty-seven years ago in the department of Savoie, but the years sit upon his shoulders lightly. From his early youth he displayed a marked aptitude for scientific pursuits.

This aptitude resulted in his entrance into the celebrated Ecole Polytechnique and his graduation therefrom with high honors in 1889.

His army career began with him holding the rank of lieutenant and his progress, both as a soldier and as a technician, was steadily upward. He was a lieutenant colonel when the war broke out and a brigadier general soon after it ended. A few days ago a presidential decree made him a general of division in the French army.

The four on trial are Mose Daus, Charles Land, turpentine operators, and Will Proctor and Frank Daniel, alleged accomplices.

RUBBER PRICE ADVANCE IS PREDICTED

Seventeen Thousand Auto Owners To Be Affected By Inevitable Raise

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
(The following dispatch outlines for the first time conditions which will have an immediate effect on the pocketbook of 17,000 automobile owners and the 50,000,000 people who use the cars now in commission. It is the first of several dispatches on the world rubber situation. The second will appear shortly.)

NEW YORK, May 21.—An advance in the prices of automobile tires, rubber footwear, hose and other mechanical rubber goods seems inevitable. That is the opinion expressed today by importers and dealers in crude rubber and by rubber manufacturers. This feeling is not confined to men in this city interested in the industry. Dispatches received from New England and Ohio manufacturing centers confirm the statement above. It is widely predicted that one large tire manufacturer will advance prices of all grades immediately.

The trend to higher prices is based on the present statistical position of rubber and its price which, around 60 cents a pound, is higher than for many years. Since 1922 rubber has risen from 13 to 18 cents a pound to a range of 55 to 60 cents. There is no immediate prospect that price will be lower despite roars of pain and rage arising from tire manufacturers here and abroad.

The so-called Stevenson plan of restricting rubber shipments from the Straits settlements is held responsible for the situation. Some manufacturers held the plan to blame while others assert that if the scheme had not been in effect they might have been paying $3 a pound for rubber instead of 60 cents.

In the last year rubber prices have gone steadily up. Consumption

Licenses for Light Testers Now Required

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Will H. Marsh, chief of the state division of motor vehicles, today announced that all adjusters of motor vehicle headlights operating at the 1500 official testing stations located throughout the state will hereafter be required to secure a license from the division before they will be permitted to adjust lights.

This move, Marsh said, is part of a general plan to rid the state of incompetent adjusters, and is preliminary to another state-wide campaign by the traffic officers against glaring headlights.

HEAVY TRAVEL IS DUE FOR YOSEMITE

Roads In Good Condition And Record Season To Result, Is Belief

By J. V. LLOYD
Written for The Evening News.
YOSEMITE, May 21.—Early indications of a heavy automobile travel to Yosemite National park this year are being borne out by the number of motorists arriving over the Wawona road and the Big Oak Flat road, both of which are reported in good condition now.

The auto run staged by the Stanislaus County Chamber of Commerce last week officially opened the Big Oak Flat road, from San Francisco and Stockton, two weeks ahead of time. The party found the road, the shortest into Yosemite valley, in good shape, and easy to travel. This route is popular, not only with the Northern California motorist, but also with those entering the

CARELESSNESS BIG ENEMY TO SAFETY

Auto Club Reports Eighty Per Cent Accidents Due To This Reason

The pedestrian and the motor car driver stand about equally responsible in the great majority of accidents, according to statistics prepared by the National Automobile club. The careless or reckless driver has the worst of it.

Reports from insurance companies covering accidents in forty-four states show that almost thirty-three per cent of all automobile accidents are due to careless or reckless driving—driving without having the car properly under control. On the other hand, the careless pedestrian is charged with twenty-nine per cent of the accidents and the two together—careless pedestrian and careless motorist—take care of another nineteen per cent.

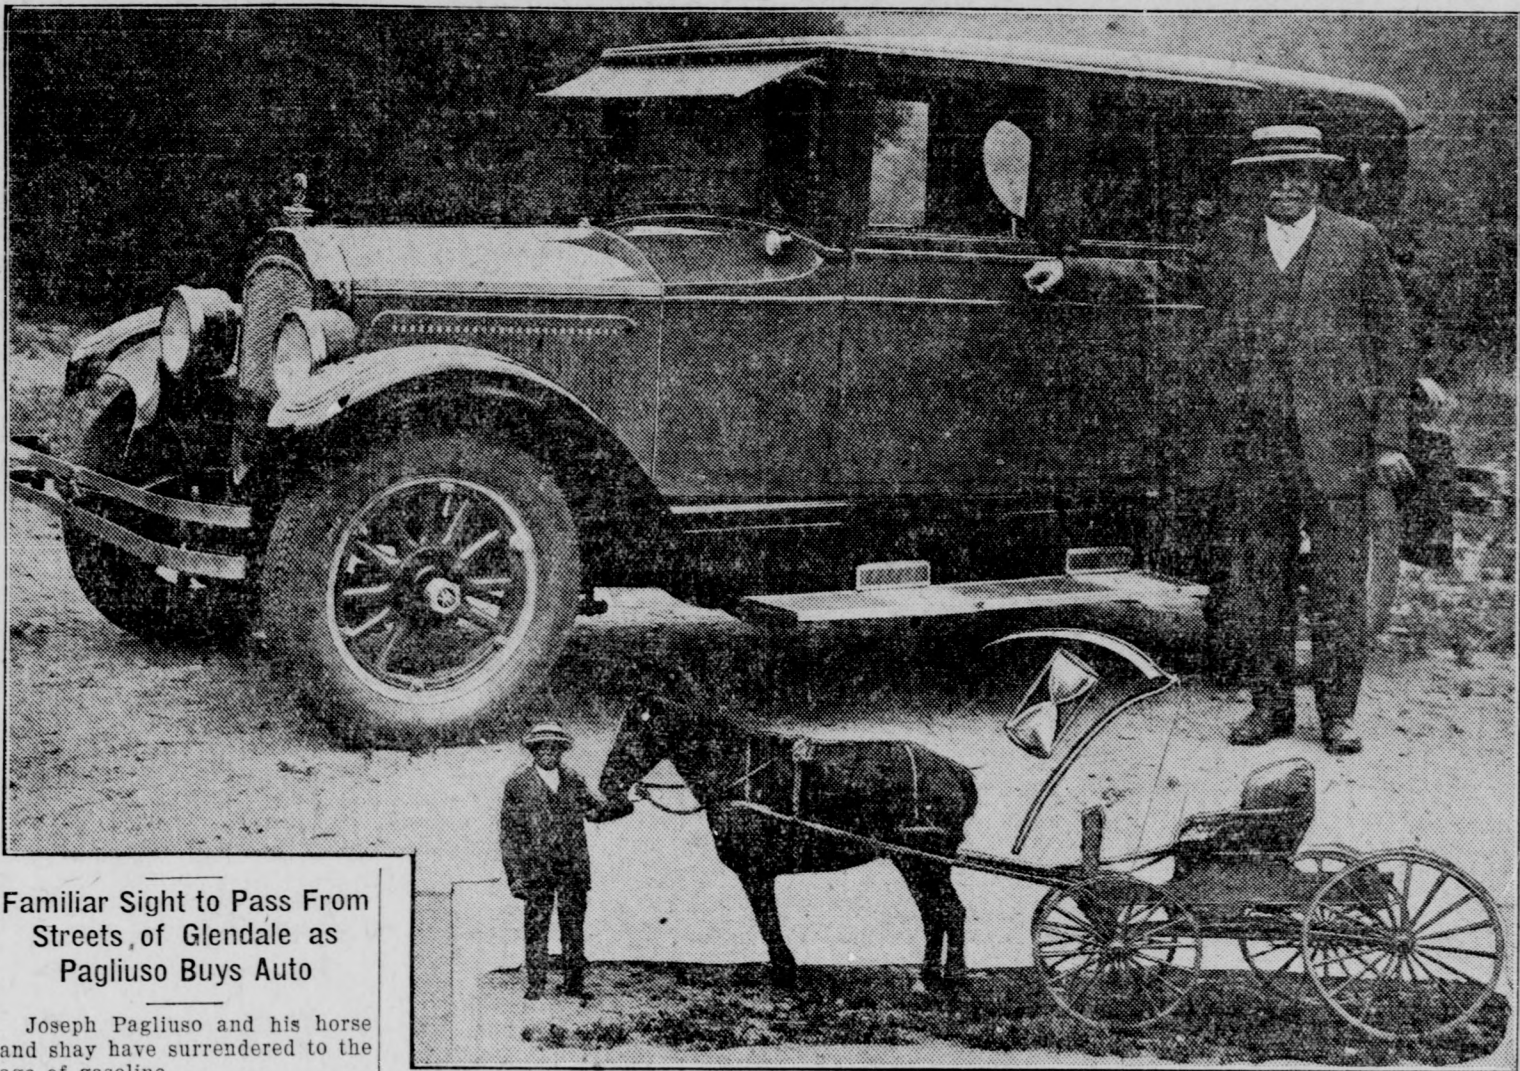

Eighty per cent of all accidents, therefore, in which a motor car plays a part, are directly due to carelessness. They are accidents which could have been avoided if the parties responsible had only exhibited an ordinary amount of common sense.

Statistics compiled over a considerable period show that five hundred have an accident in the course of a year and those same records reveal the startling fact that four out of five of those accidents are due to recklessness.

Pays To Be Careful
It pays to be careful. It pays to have your car under control at all times. The motor car driver who is cautious reduces the possibility of accident not only to himself but to others on the road. Very often the man who condemns another man for driving a car with glaring headlights has never examined his own headlights to see whether they are within the law. The best place to start in reducing the hazard on the highways is at home.

When Steed Gives Way to Speed

JOSEPH PAGLIUSO, who has watched Glendale grow from a small village to its present size, and observed the advent of the automobile as it developed from a one-cylinder, uncertain piece of machinery to the smooth-running, many-cylinder affairs of today, has at last surrendered to the age of gasoline. His horse and shay, shown below, which have been a familiar sight in Glendale, have been replaced by the WILLYS-KNIGHT brougham, shown at the top, which he has purchased from the MURRAY MOTORS, INC.—Photos by Dolberg.

Familiar Sight to Pass From Streets of Glendale as Pagliuso Buys Auto

Joseph Pagliuso and his horse and shay have surrendered to the age of gasoline.

Pagliuso, foreman of Rossmoyne who resides at 1006 East Mountain street, a pioneer of Glendale and owner of valuable properties here, has watched the age of speed develop and attain its present stride. But always Pagliuso held back. His horse and buggy have been familiar to Glendale for more than two decades.

But Pagliuso has at last fallen for the wiles of a beautiful automobile. There are few automobile dealers in Glendale who have not tried, on some occasion, to sell him a car. But it took a salesman from the Murray Motors, Inc., 905 South Brand boulevard local Willys-Knight and Overland distributors, to win Pagliuso away from his faithful horse and aged shay.

It took more. The recommendation of Ralph DePalma himself was an essential to the sale. Pagliuso, before he completed his purchase, asked DePalma's advice. The famous race driver told him the Willys-Knight is a real good car. So Pagliuso signed his check and drove away.

Few motor cars even at very high prices have ever held forth the many admirable attractions possessed by the fine new Willys-Knight brougham, and certainly none at this car's very moderate price.

A mellow, Spanish brown is the dominant tone of the brougham. Blended with this is the harmonious grey of the upper structure. A smart beading and a cheerful carmine stripe skirt the car at the waistline, accentuating the long, low sweeping lines.

Swinging open the big, wide doors, further comfort and beauty greet Pagliuso. Dignified metal fittings, window lifts and dome light. Luxurious cushions embrace and ease him in restful comfort, making the performance of the car all the more enjoyable.

San Bernardino Roads Ready for Motorists

Practically all of the San Bernardino mountain roads are in good shape at the present time, according to a recent report received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. The roads were placed in use much earlier than usual this year due to light snows and very little work was necessary to place them in good condition.

The City creek-Deep creek road to Bear valley packed well during the winter and it was comparatively easy to make fills in the few places damaged by washing. On May 15 motor transportation companies began operating over the Mill creek road, which is in fair condition with the exception of a few soft spots over Clark's grade and in Bear valley. Every effort is being made to lessen dust on these roads this season. Plans are under way to put oil on the turns and in soft spots.

GYPSY TRAILS AGAIN CALL 'VICTIMS'

Motorist Begins To Make His Preparations For 'Vacation Land'

Vacation time is again here! And who, in this glorious west of ours, can resist the temptation to pack the tent and camp goods into the car and start out for the gypsy trail?

It is an age-old call—this call of the open road. It harks back over generations to the inborn urge that makes us want to leave all that is artificial, all that is conventional, and set out for a new land of freedom, a realm with elbow room for all—Vacation Land.

Successive days of bright sunshine, of warm spring days; tales of limits of trout taken from the streams high in the mountains, make dreamers of us all. It stirs up the old pioneer blood that courses through our veins, making us want to follow the unknown trail that leads off to adventureland.

We are all victims of this wanderlust and it is needless to ignore its call, now that auto camping has become one of America's leading outdoor institutions.

Not so very many years ago, auto camping was looked upon, more or less, with disdain. It was considered the recreation suitable for the man with small means. But all of this has changed for Packard and Ford now tour the vacation highway together and banker and laborer camp side by side. Auto camping favors no certain class but unites all men, regardless of station, into one great outdoor fraternity.

All Camp Comforts
Modern camping equipment has brought about this remarkable change. Household furnishings and utensils have been rebuilt and auto camping has taken on a new aspect. The entire camping party may now live comfortably in its home by the wayside, if properly equipped with a compact portable outfit.

There are many different styles of camping tents that may be had in either the two, four or six party sizes. Spring beds that roll into a small package and take up but little room on the running board, are a great convenience. Everything has been designed to eliminate bulkiness even to the cooking utensils and table accessories.

New Boulevard Work Reported Under Way

A number of boulevard projects are under way in Downey and the near vicinity, according to recent reports from the touring department of the National Automobile club. Petitions are being circulated to pave Somerset avenue from Recreation park in Long Beach through Downey to Montebello and Pasadena. Petitions have been filed to continue Twelfth avenue to Santa Fe Springs and to continue York avenue in Long Beach through Crawford street, Downey, and on Telegraph road, and to widen and pave Curtin avenue and Zinn road from Atlantic boulevard through the south part of Downey.

MILLION AND QUARTER IS CAR TOTAL

Motor Vehicle Registration Mark In California Told By Official

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Total motor vehicle registrations for 1925 to date are 1,250,119, it was announced today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the state division of motor vehicles.

This figure includes automobiles, trucks, trailers and motorcycles. The statement shows that there are 16,697 automobiles in the state, upon which no tax is paid. They are cars belonging to public officials and public service corporations.

The total registration for 1924 was 1,350,759, and an increase of more than 100,000 is expected over this figure by the end of the year.

The total net receipts from the license and registration tax to date is $6,316,457, as compared with $7,011,112.63 for 1924. This money is divided equally between the state and the various counties for highway purposes.

Give Wrong Addresses
Failure of a large number of California motorists to secure their 1925 license plates was ascribed to the fact that many either give the wrong address or furnish inadequate information to the inquiries by the division of motor vehicles.

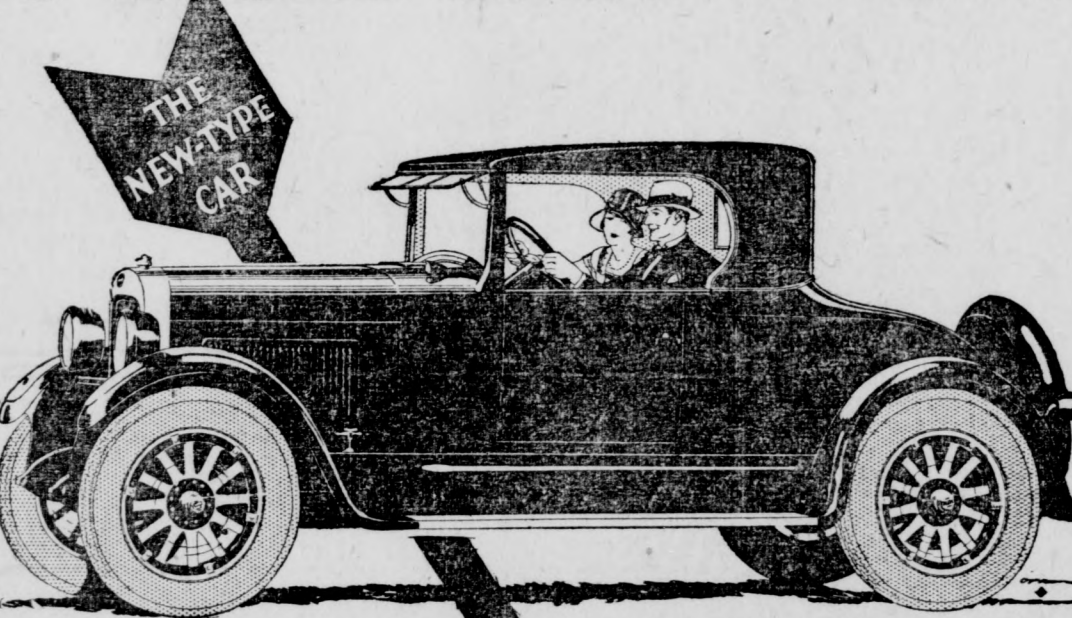

The division has some 2000 unclaimed sets of plates on hand, it was stated, and the records reveal, almost invariably, that the owners gave wrong information.

Before writing about plates, motorists are advised to determine if the check sent as a fee has been cashed. If so, the cancelled check will show the number assigned to the motorist and that number should be mentioned in making inquiries.

Method for Checking
If the check has not been cashed, the motorist should draw a duplicate. A proper showing

FAKE SOLUTIONS EXPOSED BY U. S.

Trick Electrolytes Offered
By Some Firms, Found
Harmful To Car

Action of the United States bureau of standards in exposing fake solutions for charging batteries will not only help the battery business, but it will save the car owner a great amount of money, in the opinion of Henry M. Kuhn of the Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Brand boulevard, local distributors of Willard batteries.

"In spite of the efforts of reputable battery manufacturers and their authorized service stations, 'trick electrolytes' continue to be offered on a large scale," he said. "These solutions are generally guaranteed to put new life into the battery, sometimes in a few minutes."

The United States bureau has announced that changing the solution in a storage battery does not charge it. It urges car owners to use nothing but the highest grade battery electrolyte, when any is required, and to have the work done by a reputable battery man.

DEALER PRAISES JEWETT TORQUE

R. D. Tomkins, Distributor In Glendale For Paige, Also Tells Of Feature

Torque in an automobile, the source of much mystery, is explained by R. D. Tomkins, of the R. D. Tomkins agency, Glendale distributors of Paige and Jewett cars, as that which produces or tends to produce rotation or torsion.

The torque is twisting power, and because of this fact it follows that, other things being equal, the bigger the charge of gasoline and the more powerful the resultant explosion, the greater the torque or revolving force exerted in each cylinder of the car.

The big motor of the new Jewett has ample torque, Mr. Tomkins said. In other words, it has ample pulling power at low speed when pulling power is most needed.

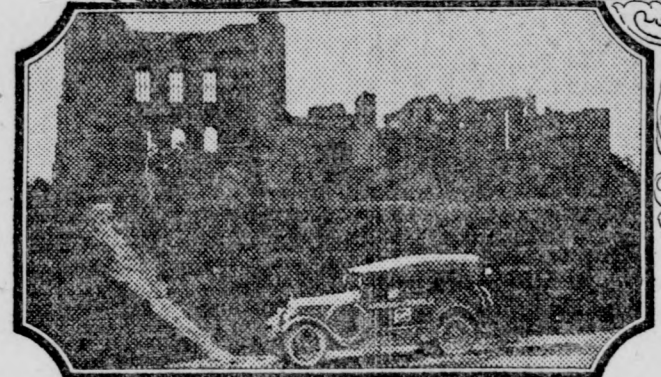

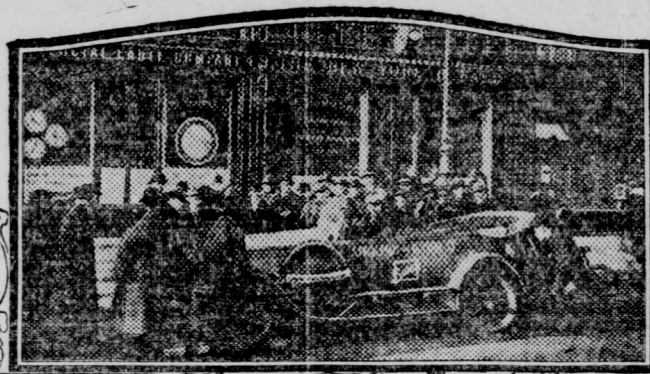

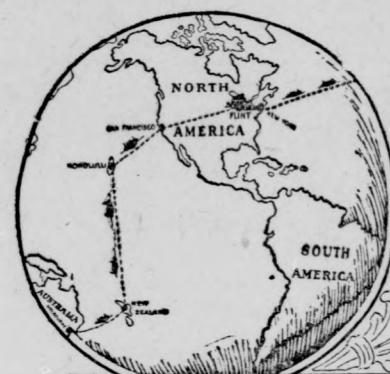

The Jewett motor's torque is greatest at relatively low speed. It is much greater than other cars in its price class, according to Mr. Tomkins.

ELECTRICAL LINES

PITTSBURGH, May 21.—The Duquesne Light Co., and the West Penn Power Co., have completed a 32,000 volt tie line with auxiliary equipment between the respective mine mouth plants of the two companies. CHEVROLET SETS TWO NEW RECORDS

Dealers Throughout Country
Establish Sales Mark
For Current Month

Two new records were established by the Chevrolet Motor Co. during April, according to word reaching James V. Hough, Chevrolet dealer in Glendale.

Retail Chevrolet dealers in the United States broke all previous records by selling an aggregate of 53,283 cars during the month. The next largest retail sales were for April, 1923, when the number of cars sold came to 51,394.

The other new record was made on April 30 when a total of 4064 cars and trucks were shipped from the various Chevrolet factories, the largest number for one day in the history of the concern.

During April Chevrolet salesmen obtained 50,396 new orders, the remainder of the delivery total being used to take care of a small portion of unfilled orders carried over from March. At the end of April 26,512 unfilled orders still were on hand throughout the United States.

SHIP FIRST CLIP

FORT WORTH, May 21.—The first of the spring mohair clip in Kinney county, amounting to 190,000 pounds, has been sold to Boston firms "for a satisfactory price."

A Buick car, which left New York City last December to be driven from one Buick dealer to another in a trip around the world, is nearing the end of its long journey, according to word received by officials of Tanner & Hall, Ltd., Buick dealers in Glendale, located at 622 South Brand boulevard.

The car is a Standard Six touring model and is unaccompanied by special drivers or mechanics. When it returns to New York City it will have been handled by approximately 350 different drivers. The only additions made to the machine after it was taken from the assembly line at the factory in Flint, Mich., was four spare tires, a shovel, and supplementary tanks on the running boards for gas, oil and water to take care of long runs over desert country, it is said.

Last reports received by Tanner & Hall from the factory stated the car is enroute from New Zealand to Honolulu. It will be shipped from the Hawaiian Islands to San Francisco, and driven across the United States through Detroit and Flint to New York City, factory officials announce.

AUTO PRODUCTION

DETROIT, May 21.—The Paige Detroit Motor Co. Co., turned out 900 more cars last month than for the corresponding period of 1924 and this month schedules call for output of 5960 cars or 400 above the best previous month in the company's history.

Because of improved business conditions in the Netherlands there are many demands for wage increases in industries.

Few people realize, until their automobile has been through a serious wreck, the efficient manner in which bodies and fenders can be repaired and made to look like new in this age of machinery and inventive genius, according to Archie Y. "But it is a grand and glorious feeling when your car is rolled out of the auto body and fender shop looking just as good, sometimes better, than when that other machine crashed into you," declared Gregg.

His company makes a specialty of wrecks. Fenders are straightened and the dents removed; auto bodies are repaired from top to bottom. The shop has also manufactured a number of special bodies now in use in Glendale.

DEALER TELLS OF SERVICE FEATURE

Distributor Of Maxwell And Chrysler Cars Accents
Care From Sale

"It often happens that an automobile needs service because the man who owns it didn't get service in the first place," says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado, Chrysler and Maxwell dealers.

"A little bit of personal service, rendered by the man who sold the car, to the purchaser, very often saves a large bill for service. But it often happens that the owner of the car, with economy uppermost in his mind, takes his car to some establishment where the equipment and the knowledge for rendering expert service on that make of car are sadly lacking. He may save money at that time, but in the long run it is more economical to secure the needed service from the dealer who sold the car."

"The up-to-date automobile dealer not only is prepared to render every service the car may need, but he is wholeheartedly at the service of the man who buys the car from him, and who always operates to make the shop service less frequent."

"Good advice, a sincere interest in the car owner, and full responsibility for the performance of the car he sells, are the goodwill assets of any automobile dealer today."

HUPMOBILE SALES SHOW BIG GAINS

Owners Report Satisfaction

Durability Of Car

Sales of the new Hupmobile Eight in the United States have already exceeded 5000, and monthly orders are now beginning to reach 1500, as the abilities of the car become more widely known, according to H. V. White, manager of the H. W. Swanson agency, 228 South Brand boulevard.

"Reports from owners as to the remarkable results they are receiving from the Eight continue to pour in," said White. "Its compactness, insuring easy parkability; its genuine ease of handling, unique smoothness and flexibility of operation, and its dignified appearance, have created a wide appeal. With the Hupmobile reputation behind it, durability, freedom from service difficulties and operating economy have been taken for granted."

Of Best Equipped Plants

Automobile depreciation and trade-in value is nothing but a bugaboo, in the opinion of Edward Holland of the Edward Holland Co., 341 West Colorado boulevard. His company, with one of the best equipped automobile machine shops in Southern California, specializes in "remanufactured cars."

Before any motor is worked on it is dipped in a huge vat of steaming lye and water, left there for a few moments, removed and with a spray of water every particle of grease and dirt is washed off. Parts are machined especially for the motor for which they are intended.

Accurate to a thousandth of an inch, most of the machines in the Holland plant were made in Glendale by Holland.

Launches Most Popular
Of Innovations

One of the most popular innovations in the retail automotive industry of late has been the sale of high grade automobile tires on a credit basis.

It was not until recently that tire dealers began extending tire credit. Now, however, motorists at any time can drive to the Smith Tire Co., 239 South Brand boulevard, make a very small down payment and pay the balance on terms as low as $1 a week, according to Irwin Smith, manager. The Smith Tire Co. has the Glendale distribution of Viking cords, that carry with them an unconditional 15,000 mile guarantee. Delivery is made by the company to time purchasers within five minutes, with no red tape and no interest.

Belgium is backing an exhibition of articles to help make housework easier, that will be held in Heysel-Laeken this summer.

A Saving of $36,000,000

According to the most conservative calculation, American motorists pay $36,000,000 a year for chassis lubrication.

And that sum represents but a fraction of the saving that motorists would enjoy if all cars were, like the Cleveland Six, equipped with the

"One-Shot" Lubrication System

(Licensed under Bowen Products Co. patents)

This exclusive, high pressure system does more than eliminate the actual cost of having a garage or service station lubricate vital bearings.

It eliminates the inconvenience of leaving the car to have it done or of doing the job yourself. It reduces service, maintenance, and depreciation costs. And it guarantees a properly functioning, smoothly operating car at all times.

For you simply step on a plunger and every moving part is flushed with clean, live lubricant. Any Cleveland Six dealer will show you.

Quality Sixes from $895 to $1725

Finer Performance—Lower Costs Make Contented Owners

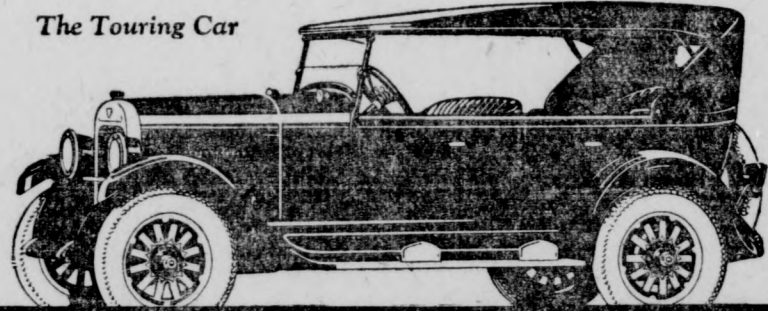

It's a great delight to own a four, like the new good Maxwell, that delivers 58 miles an hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds and gasoline economy of 25 miles to the gallon.

There are still other reasons for the genuine contentment that distinguishes all good Maxwell owners. Their car rides with greater comfort and ease than any other four. Operating and maintenance charges are amazingly low—an advantage Maxwell owners have because of the built-in quality of a car that is completely manufactured within its own great plants.

Good judgment suggests that you get the Maxwell facts before you buy your next car. Owners will tell you of its economy, but a single demonstration will show you how it performs and rides.

Where Nature Provides Stage

Picturesque setting on the Rim of the World for the natural amphitheatre on the shores of Big Bear lake is shown in the top picture. Below, an artist on a high natural stage. Insert, ARTHUR FARWELL, famous American composer, who will direct the opening concert, June 13.

A most capacious and unique amphitheatre, distinctive in its setting 7000 feet above sea level, in the wooded heart of the San Bernardino mountains, on the Rim of the World, and far surpassing anything of its kind, will be opened to the world on the night of June 13 with a wholly different and novel presentation of musical programs rendered by artists of the highest class.

A departure from the large stage is made by many and varied small platforms of table-shaped rocks artistically placed by the hand of nature about the immense amphitheatre. This most extraordinary theatre was discovered in 1924 by Arthur Farwell, one of the most famous and progressive of American composers, formerly of New York, who has spent many years of work with out-door musical pageantry in the east. He is essentially a pathfinder and pioneer and has opened a new gateway to possibilities undreamed of in dramatic history.

The theatre is easily accessible, being on a main line of travel in the San Bernardino mountains at Fawnskin on the north shores of Big Bear lake. It will accommodate an audience of 50,000 persons or more. The seating arrangements will include everything from natural pine needles to cushioned chairs. Several methods of lighting are being installed, various types of picturesque lanterns hung from tall trees and huge projectors for throwing colored lights in any direction. The natural formation of the amphitheatre is ideal in every respect and the acoustical condition existing is said to be perfect.

Rubber Price Advance Is Seen As Inevitable

tion has increased with equal speed owing to the improvement in the demand for automobiles and increased manufacturing operations. The use of more rubber has been furthered by the popularity of balloon tires which contain more rubber than the high pressure types. On the other hand, stocks of rubber in London, the principal storage centers, have dropped in the last year from 90,000 tons to 9000 tons.

Stevenson Plan
The Stevenson plan provides that only a certain amount of rubber may be shipped from Singapore and other far east colonial ports each quarter. The amount varies automatically with the price for the last quarter. The English producers designed the plan to peg the market at around 35 cents. If the price is up the amount for export is increased 5 or 10 percent. If the price is down, it reduces the amount which may be shipped similarly.

When the plan was put into effect, American manufacturers in general favored it. After the war, English plantation owners were getting 13 cents for rubber which cost them at least 25 cents a pound to produce. American manufacturers feared that, unless something were done to stabilize the price, many planters would abandon their estates and allow them to revert to jungle. This eventually would have meant short supplies of rubber and extremely high prices.

American Importers
The manufacturers, however, apparently were not sure the Stevenson plan was going to work and they did not lay in supplies or contract for cheap rubber. They have been buying "spot" and as the production was kept down and consumption kept up visible supplies began to disappear and prices to shoot skyward. American importers and rubber dealers are not particularly enthusiastic about the high prices. For they cannot get spot stocks to sell their customers. The latter could buy July futures for 5 cents a pound less than spot rubber, but they are declining to do so. Dealers say they are holding back in the hope something may happen to break the price.

But automobile makers and owners are calling for tires. Akron factories are running close to capacity and the demand shows no signs of diminishing. There is plenty of rubber in the far east right now but even if all restrictions were removed and the rubber shipped immediately it would not reach manufacturers until July. The prospect, therefore, for a fall in crude rubber sufficient to obviate necessity for an advance in tires seems extremely unlikely.

Heavy Travel Is Due For Yosemite Valley

park from the south and desiring to leave by a new road, with new scenery.

Historical Lore
Leaving the San Joaquin valley highway at Salida, the Big Oak Flat continues as a paved road until a short distance beyond Keystone, from which a good dirt road continues into Yosemite valley, seventy miles distant. The country through which this road runs is rich in historical lore. Chinese Camp, Robbers' Roost, Jacksonville, Groveland and Crocker are all filled with evidences of pioneer days.

Crane Flat is the first automobile checking station encountered in Yosemite National park. Eight miles beyond, after a delightful drive through magnificent forests of stately sugar pines, the motorist arrives at Gentry. From this point automobiles are allowed to go down into Yosemite valley on the old hours starting at 9 a. m. and to depart from the valley at 6 a. m. and thereafter on even hours.

Dust Is Packed
Rains during the past few days have packed the dust on the roads from Fresno and Merced into Wawona. Visitors to the park over the Wawona road describe it as being in better condition than ever before.

Trips to the Mariposa Big Trees near Wawona, without dust, are making a great hit with the seasoned motorists. The majority of them drive from San Joaquin valley to the Big Trees for luncheon. This brings them to the control on the Chinquapin grade about the proper time.

The control station on this road has been moved by Superintendent W. B. Lewis from Chinquapin to Grouse Creek, two miles nearer the floor of the valley. This change was made for the convenience of the public. Grouse Creek control is in a shaded place, through which flows a stream abundant in trout.

Beautiful Trails
The Yosemite Park & Curry Co. has put up a lunch and refreshment booth. A number of beautiful trails for walking lead from the spot, and motorists find it a pleasant break in the trip into the valley. Ample shaded parking space is provided on the flat at Grouse Creek.

Motorists are allowed to proceed from Grouse Creek at 4:30 o'clock each afternoon, arriving at Yosemite Village in the valley, about one hour later. For those who care to loiter, Bridal-Veil falls, at this time of day, is wreathed in gorgeous rainbow colors.

Anticipating the usual heavy

William Morgan of the Glendale Taxi Service, well-known throughout the city, decided this week that 130,000 miles was enough for any taxicab, and although his 1921 Studebaker light six sedan, which had traveled all of 130,000 miles since he put it into service, still ran like new and had gone through the years with virtually no upkeep expense other than tires, he followed the dictates of his conscience and bought a new car.

Needless to say, that with the perfect satisfaction given by his old Studebaker, that was the brand of his new car also. This time it is a standard six, with a larger motor and wheel base and more power than the light six.

Mr. Morgan bought both of his Studebakers through the Packer Motor Co., corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado street, Glendale Studebaker distributors.

OWN DEFENSE PLANNED BY JAZZ GIRL

Dorothy Ellingson, Declared Sane, Says Fatal Shots Fired By Another

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For-International News Service
SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Dorothy Ellingson considers the decision of the Napa state hospital alienists, who declared her sane, in the nature of a vindication, it was learned today.

And, as such, the 17-year-old matricide hopes it will give her an opportunity to direct her own defense when she again goes on trial for the murder of her mother.

So confident was the titian-haired "jazz baby" defendant that she would be declared sane, that she has spent much of the time since her incarceration in the asylum in mapping out her defense. She has written a five-page statement, now in the possession of District Attorney Matthew Brady, in which she denies the killing of the mother and returns to her original story that "Jimmy Lamarr, dope fiend," fired the fatal shots.

Although branding the claim made in the statement as a "figment of imagination," officials admitted today that they believed Jimmy Lamarr a real person. A search is to be instituted for him. Police have received letters through the St. Louis chief of police purporting to come from Lamarr, in which the writer claimed Lamarr, and not Dorothy, had killed her mother.

Defense plans were to be mapped out late today. Joseph Ellingson, father of the girl, skinned by the doctor's verdict, news of which he received bitterly, arranged the conference. It is understood he will seek to have Walter McGovern, who was associated with the defense in an advisory capacity in the first trial, assume the burden of defense. McGovern in his brief appearances in the initial proceedings laid stress on the possibility that a third person killed Mrs. Ellingson.

Dorothy will be brought back to the county jail from the Napa state hospital Friday. The same deputy sheriffs and jail matron who took her there April 9 will accompany her back. She will probably appear in court Monday, when Assistant District Attorney Harmon S. Killin will ask that her trial for murder be resumed immediately.

Jazz Girl Does Not Know Murder Trial Soon Starts

NAPA, Cal., May 21.—Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide, does not know this morning that she is to be taken to San Francisco Friday to await trial for the murder of her mother.

She does know, however, that she has been found sane and that she is to stand trial, but she does not know she will be taken to San Francisco so soon. This was what Dr. L. C. Rogers of the state hospital here declared.

Dr. Rogers was the physician who told Dorothy last night that she had been found sane and must stand trial.

"I am glad to know it, I have known it all along," the titian-haired girl replied, according to Dr. Rogers.

"I have been hoping for this right along," Dorothy said to Dr. Rogers. "It is bad enough to be considered a murderer without being called a lunatic at the same time. I will feel better now when I face the court."

After these remarks, Dorothy was said to have calmly returned to a book she had been reading.

FRAZIER PARK TO PUT ON PROGRAM

Celebration Planned When Clubhouse Is Opened On Memorial Day

With the completion of the community clubhouse at Frazier Mountain Park, a special program of sports and other amusement features is now in course of preparation for Memorial Day at which time it is planned to hold a formal opening.

A general invitation to the public will be extended by the company to visit the park on that day, as well as by the more than 500 owners of Frazier Mountain Park cabin sites, to their friends and acquaintances to be present at that time.

Although the tentative program has been approved by the officials of the company, it is not yet ready for publication, according to N. T. Baird, sales manager, who said: "that weather conditions had more or less to do with the events of the day, but that rain or shine there would be something doing every hour of the day from morning till night."

Other improvements at the park are rapidly progressing. Roads, bridle trails and water system are near completion. Incidentally, declared Mr. Baird, the water system at Frazier Mountain Park will be one of the best to be found at any similar place in California. Fresh spring water will thereby be available to each lot.

Woman Pays

So says "Pat" in "The Chorus Lady," showing last times today at the Glendale theatre.

"It's the woman who pays and pays and pays." So bewails Pat O'Brien as she picks up the only remaining bit of bric-a-brac in Dick Crawford's fashionable apartment, leans out the window and throws it at the owner's head as he passes beneath on his way from the danger zone.

This is one of the big dramatic scenes from "The Chorus Lady" that will be seen for the last time tonight at the Glendale theatre. While it is dramatic, there is much humor in it. Pat is funny without intending to be, and all the while she has the sympathy of those who are watching her.

Strong Cast
Margaret Livingston, red headed beauty, plays the role of Pat. Dick Crawford is played by Philo McCullough, that polished villain of a hundred or more screen successes.

Ralph Ince directed "The Chorus Lady" and has put into it the lace punch for which his family is famous.

Others in the cast include Alan Roscoe, who plays the part of the handsome Irish lover, Lillian Elliott and Lloyd Ingraham have the roles of Pat's mother and father; Virginia Lee Corbin is the young sister; Eve Southern plays Pat's enemy and Merwyn LeRoy plays the part of the jockey.

CHANGES LISTED IN RADIO WORLD

Class B Wave Band Remains Same, Contrary Report Notwithstanding

By ROBERT MACK
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Reports circulated throughout the country that the class B wave band had been lowered to include the wave length between 25 and 280 meters brought a denial from department of commerce officials that any change has been made or is planned in the present allocation system.

As explained in recent dispatches by this writer, several class A stations, having qualified for class B licenses but unable to find a class B wave length available, have been licensed to operate on power greater than that permitted class A stations, and in several cases a class B license has been granted although the station remains on its low wave length.

There is no intention, however, of lowering the B wave band, which automatically would necessitate reallocation of all of the class A stations which operate between 250 and 280 meters. It was stated, officially, that no change would be considered until after the station owners have conferred with the government officials during the annual radio conference which is to be called in the fall.

Special Wave Band
If an allocation eventually is decided upon it was indicated that it probably will be a creation of special wave band for extremely high powered stations, as advocated by officials of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. It is also possible that a general lowering of the broadcasting bands to include experimental work on lengths below the 200 meters will be provided. The trend of broadcasting is believed generally to be in these two directions, higher power and higher frequencies.

Both the Westinghouse company and the General Electric company are concentrating their laboratory work this summer on these two angles of radio and the Radio Corporation of America has not changed its attitude expressed last year that the nation's broadcasting scheme of the future would be built up around super-power.

The radio announcer is to be the topic of discussion this week at the third meeting of the Radio Voice Technique committee, in New York. Records of the voices of all of the Metropolitan announcers have been taken and a comparative study of them is to be made by the committee. In a preliminary test Herbert Glover, announcer at WJZ was voted the most perfect announcer. Radio personality, however, was eliminated in the early consideration. The committee is composed of representative men of the stage, the ministry and the university.

Laugh Riot

HAROLD LLOYD, appearing in "Hot Water" at Cosmo theatre.

Harold Lloyd's Pathe comedy feature, "Hot Water," opens at the Cosmo theatre, Brand boulevard and Windsor road, today. It is a typical Lloyd story, riddled with laughter from the first flicker of the film until the final fade-out. The side-splitting situations are very original and not at all like anything that the comedy king has done before.

The theme centers around the old problem of two trying to live as cheaply as one, and almost succeeding when the wife's folks insist upon sharing all the joys and causing most of the sorrows. Unsolicited advice as to how his personal affairs should be managed pour in upon the helpless husband. It is another comedy riot.

'SALLY' FLASHING AS GATEWAY FILM

Colleen Moore's Latest Work Seen On Screen Today, Tomorrow, Saturday

Manager Loper of the Gateway theatre promises his patrons for today, tomorrow and Saturday, a stellar program. The popular photodrama, "Sally," is the attraction these three days.

Colleen Moore is playing the leading role and adds a great deal to this picture which was adapted from Ziegfeld's musical comedy of that name. Leon Errol and Lloyd Hughes are in support.

High School

Attainment of the membership goal of 1500 members, and addition of $150 to the high school scholarship fund, are the two outstanding features of the year closed yesterday by the Glendale Union High school P-T-A., under the leadership of Mrs. W. R. Wichert. Mrs. Wichert has proven an executive devoted to the development of her organization, and her success was reflected in annual reports given by officers and chairmen. The check for $150 was received by George U. Moyle, principal of the high school, with words of high commendation for the P-T-A. and for the cause for which the money will go.

Election of officers resulted in Mrs. W. E. Routt being elected president; Mrs. C. A. Haskins, vice-president; Mrs. W. R. Wichert, secretary; Mrs. H. V. Ellis, treasurer; Mrs. Percy Prialux, auditor; Mrs. C. E. Rathbone, historian.

Part of the reports had been presented Monday at the board meeting. Yesterday reports were given by Mrs. Wichert, retiring president; Mrs. S. L. Martinez, vice-president and finance chairman; Mrs. B. Lucas, membership; Mrs. Myrtle B. Brown, program; Mrs. J. W. Mair, community life; Mrs. W. E. Routt, courtesy; Mrs. C. H. Thompson, visiting and hospitality; Mrs. A. T. Wintersgill for Mrs. Claude Case, historian. On behalf of the association officers Mrs. Martinez presented Mrs. Wichert with a gift.

Col. James Everington, representing the American Legion, spoke on the proposed memorial building. Announcement was made that a tea will be held June 2 at Broadway High school for senior mothers. COAL SITUATION IS INVESTIGATED

Writer Sees Uncertainty In Price After Contract Expires In August

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
WILKESBARE, Pa., May 21.—Although the stocking of the household furnace is practically over for the season, far-sighted coal consumers throughout the anthracite-using belt are loath to see the bottoms of their bins and already are laying in future supplies. In consequence, the mines are producing steadily and heavily.

The reason for the heavy demand lies in the fact that the two-year agreement between the anthracite miners and operators expires August 1. Leaders of the employees already are formulating demands which will be presented at the joint meeting of the operators and miners at Atlantic City. There is talk throughout the coal fields of a call for a wage increase of approximately 40 per cent. Other demands involving anything from jackhammers to dealings at company stores and the "check-off" probably will be presented.

Many of these miners undoubtedly expect to be rejected. But they feel that the abandonment of these may make it possible for them to "put over" some things they are acutely anxious to obtain. Certainly the operators will continue to reject the "check-off" or withholding of union dues from miners' wages or their delivery to the union treasuries. It is equally certain they will not agree to a 40 per cent wage increase.

Opposition Seen
The coal companies are in a position where increases in costs of production and consequent increases in price may lose them some of their most cherished markets and they will oppose any advances to the utmost, according to information secured by the writer from thoroughly reliable sources today.

The anthracite operators probably will always have a call for a certain tonnage of the so-called domestic and stove sizes. But they cannot produce those sizes without producing at the same time steam coal which must be sold in keeping with bituminous. They cannot pass on the price increases on steam coal, for the bituminous producers are only waiting an opportunity to raid that market. Moreover, advances in prices for domestic sizes surely would induce increased use of oil and other methods of heating.

The deliberations of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers at Indianapolis may result in spreading this state of uncertainty as to production all over the country and involve nearly every section and industry.

Bituminous Situation
The bituminous operators in this case are the ones who are formulating demands. They say they cannot pay the so-called Jacksonville scale in effect in union mines and compete with the non-union producers. Many properties are closed entirely and some of the largest producers are curtailing.

It is unlikely that the bituminous men will lay up heavy supplies in anticipation of an anthracite strike. They did this two years ago and had difficulty in disposing of their reserve stocks. But, in the meantime, the Kentucky and West Virginia non-union producers are working at full speed. Nonetheless, those consumers not in a position to get non-union coal are thinking seriously over future supplies.

The anthracite situation is complicated by uncertainty as to whether the union leaders can control their own men. Every time the joint committee of miners and operators meets it becomes apparent that they would be able quickly to get together were it not for radical elements in the ranks of each side. For example, President Cappellini, of the anthracite miners, was unable to control an unauthorized strike last year which involved 15,000 men, until the trouble had reached the stage of violence.

McTigue-Berlenbach Viewed On Even Terms

NEW YORK, May 21.—Local boxing critics after viewing the training of Mike McTigue and Paul Berlenbach for their light heavyweight bout on May 29, seemed to be about evenly divided in their opinions as to whether champion or challenger would be returned the winner. Berlenbach has been quoted as an 8 to 5 favorite on Broadway, but so impressed were the critics with McTigue's condition that many switched their favor to the champion's camp. The promoters believe a capacity crowd of 70,000 will view the event, the proceeds going to the milk fund.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"I know," replied Betty, and she laughed. "He always objected to me because I would call him 'Monsieur Boris' instead of 'uncle.' But I meant to do something nevertheless. Only he gave me no time. He bullied me first of all, and I do hate being bullied—don't you, Mr. Frobisher?"

"I do," Betty looked at the letters again. "That's when I snapped the fingers at him, I suppose," she continued, with a little gurgle of delight in the phrase. "Afterwards he brought this horrible charge against me, and to have suggested any arrangement would have been to plead guilty."

"You were quite right. It would, indeed," Jim agreed cordially.

Up to this moment, a suspicion had been lurking at the back of Jim Frobisher's mind that this girl had been a trifle hard in her treatment of Boris Waberski. He was a sponger, a wastrel, with no real claim upon her, it was true. On the other hand, he had no means of livelihood, and Mrs. Harlowe, from whom Betty drew her fortune, had been content to endure and support him. Now, however, the suspicion was laid, the little blemish upon the girl removed and by her own frankness.

"Then it is all over," Betty said, handing back the letters to Jim with a sigh of relief. Then she smiled ruefully—"But just for a little while I was really frightened," she confessed. "You see, I was sent for and questioned by the examining magistrate. Oh! I wasn't frightened by the questions, but by him, the man. I've no doubt it's his business to look severe, but I couldn't help thinking that if any one looked as terrifically severe as he did, it must be because he hadn't any brains and wanted you not to know. And people without brains are always dangerous, aren't they?"

"Yes, that wasn't encouraging," Jim agreed. "Then he forbade me to use a motor car, as if he expected me to run away. And, to crown everything, when I came away from the Palais de Justice, I met some friends outside who gave me a long list of people who had been condemned and only found to be innocent when it was too late."

Jim stared at her. "The brutes!" he cried. "Well, we have all got friends like that," Betty returned philosophically. "Mine, however, were particularly odious. For they actually discussed, as a reason of course, why I should engage the very best advocate, whether, since Mrs. Harlowe had adopted me, the charge couldn't be made one of matricide. In which case there could be no pardon, and I must go to the guillotine with a black veil over my head and naked feet." She saw horror and indignation in Jim Frobisher's face and she reached out a hand to him.

"Yes, Malice in the provinces is apt to be a little blunt, though," and she lifted a slim foot in a shining slipper and contemplated it whimsically—"I don't imagine that, given the circumstances, I should be bothering my head much as to whether I was wearing my best shoes and stockings or none at all."

"I never heard of so abominable a suggestion," cried Jim. "You can imagine, at all events, that I came home a little rattled, continued Betty, and why I sent off that silly panicky telegram. I would have recalled it when I rose to the surface again. But it was then too late. The telegram had—"

She broke off abruptly with a little rise of inflexion and a sharp draw of her breath. "Who is that?" she asked in a changed voice. She had been speaking quietly and slowly, with an almost humorous appreciation of the causes of her fear. Now her question was uttered quickly and anxiety was predominant in her voice. "Yes, who is that?" she repeated.

A big, heavily built man sauntering past the great iron gates had suddenly whipped into the courtyard. A fraction of a second before he was an idler strolling along the path, now he was already disappearing under the big glass panes of the porch.

"It's Hanaud," Jim replied, and Betty rose to her feet as though a spring in her had been released, and stood swaying.

"You have nothing to fear from Hanaud," Jim Frobisher reassured her. "I have shown him those two letters of Waberski. From first to last he is your friend. Listen. This is what he said to me only yesterday in Paris."

"Yesterday, in Paris?" Betty asked suddenly.

"Yes, I called upon him at the suite. These were his words. I remembered them particularly so that I could repeat them to you just as they were spoken. 'Your little client can lay her pretty head upon her pillow confident that no injustice will be done to her.'"

The bell of the front door shrilled through the house as Jim finished. "Then why is he in Dijon? Why is he at the door now?" Betty asked stubbornly. "But that was the one question which Jim must not answer. He had received a confidence from Hanaud. He had pledged his word not to betray it. For a little while longer Betty must believe that Waberski's accusation against her was the true reason of Hanaud's presence in Dijon, and not merely an excuse for it."

"Hanaud acts under orders," Jim returned. "He is here because he was hidden to come," and to his relief the answer sufficed. In truth, Betty's thoughts were diverted to some problem to which he had not the key. "So you called upon Monsieur Hanaud in Paris," she said, with a warm smile. "You have forgotten nothing which could help me." She laid a hand upon the sill of the open window. "I hope that he felt all the flattery of my panicky telegram to London."

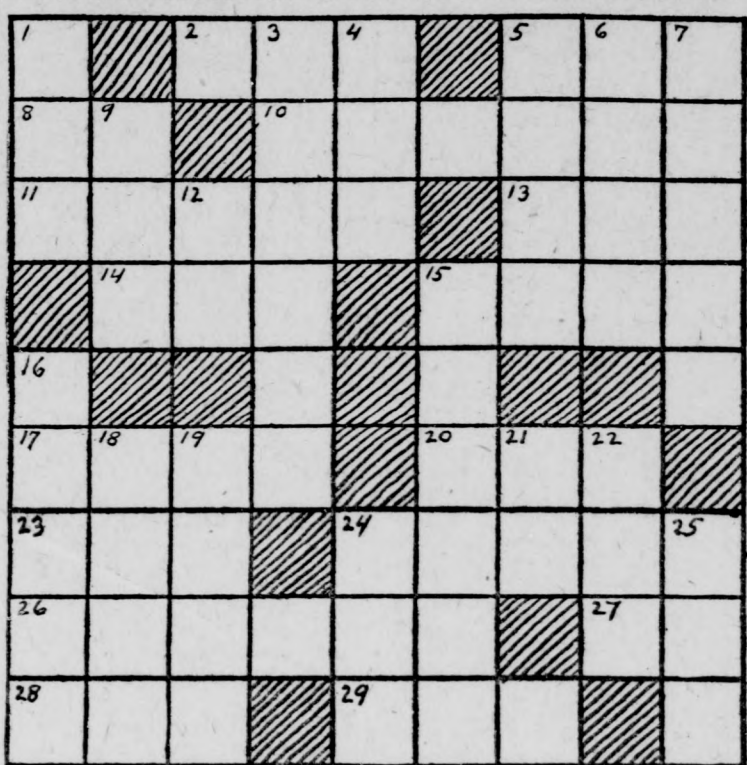

"He was simply regretful that you should have been so distressed," "So you showed him the telegram?" "And he destroyed it. It was my excuse for calling upon him with the letters."

Betty sat down again on the window-seat and lifted a finger for silence. Outside the door voices were speaking. Then the door was opened and the old manservant entered. He carried this time no card upon a salver, but he was obviously impressed and a trifle flustered. "Mademoiselle," he began, and Betty interrupted him. All trace of anxiety had gone from her manner. She was once more mistress of herself.

I know, Gaston. Show Monsieur Hanaud in at once." But Monsieur Hanaud was already in. He bowed with a pleasant ceremony to Betty Harlowe

CHAPTER FIVE

BETTY HARLOWE ANSWERS

"But we cannot see even through the widest of windows," Hanaud continued, "what happened behind them a fortnight ago. In those cases, Mademoiselle, we have to make ourselves the nuisance and ask the questions."

"I am ready to answer you," returned Betty quietly. "Oh, of that—not a doubt," Hanaud cried genially. "Is it permitted to me to seat myself? Yes?"

Betty jumped up, the pallor of her face flushed to pink. "I beg your pardon. Of course, Monsieur Hanaud."

That little omission in her manners alone showed Jim Frobisher that she was nervous. But for it, he would have credited her with a self-command almost unnatural in her years.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1923, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow there grew a tangle of vines near a briar patch. So thickly did the vines lay on the ground, so many of them were there and so strong were they, that whoever tried to cross the place of the vines would soon find himself and his legs so tangled up that he would fall down.

For this reason, even when he was in a hurry to hop home to Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy and his new rabbit lady wife, Uncle Wiggily would not cross the tangled patch of vines for fear of being tripped.

But the new little boy and girl rabbits who had come to the bunny gentleman along with his new wife, did not know about the tangled vines. And, of course, being in a hurry, as most children are, the little rabbits often ran across the place where the vines grew.

One day Jingle and Jangle, the two little rabbit girls, hurrying home from school, took a short cut across the vine patch to show their mother and Uncle Wiggily what fine lesson marks the Lady mouse Teacher had given them in class. But Jingle's feet caught in a vine and down she fell—"ker bunko!"

"I'm sorry," said Jangle, but no sooner had she spoken than her feet also were tangled in the vines and down she went. "The girls were soon hopping back again with the bread. On the way they saw a hungry robin bird, and Uncle Wiggily scattered a few crumbs of bread for the poor feathered chap."

"Thank you," sang Mr. Robin, as he picked up the crumbs. And then, all of a sudden, out of the bushes jumped the bad Bob Cat.

"I am hungry, too, the same as the robin is," snarled the Bob Cat. "But I don't want to pick up broad crumbs. I want to nibble the tender ears of some little rabbits," and he looked at Jingle and Jangle.

"You can't have their ears," cried Uncle Wiggily, and, putting the loaf of bread up inside his tail silk hat, Mr. Longears picked up Jingle under one paw and Jangle under the other and started to run to his bungalow with them to get away from the Bob Cat.

But the Bob Cat ran also and was almost catching up to Uncle Wiggily and the little rabbits when they got to the tangled vine patch. And then suddenly the robin bird flew down and whispered:

"Take the short cut across the tangled vines by the path you chopped out with the hedge shears yesterday Uncle Wiggily. You will not be tangled but if the Bob Cat tries to follow, not knowing about the path, he will get stuck in the vines," said the robin.

So Uncle Wiggily hopped across the tangled vines by means of the safe path he had cut, taking Jingle and Jangle with him. But when the Bob Cat tried to follow first his left leg was caught in a tangled blackberry vine and then his right leg was caught in a strawberry vine and at last he was so tangled up that he couldn't move.

But the bunny gentleman and the two little rabbits safely reached the bungalow, and it was two days before the Bob Cat could claw his way out of the tangle of vines. So it all happened for the best. And if the clock key doesn't take the shoe laces out of the rubber boot to tie around the neck of the bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the crooked stick.

SPRING PRACTICE OPENS AT SCHOOL

Gridiron Candidates Work
Out At Broadway High,
Passing, Kicking

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.
Spring football practice has just gotten under way at Broadway High school under the supervision of the coaching staff. Practice will continue for three weeks only and its purpose is to give the candidates practice in kicking, passing, to train them in the elementary rudiments of the game and give them the feel of the ball.

No suits have been issued and will not be until next fall when pig-skin training proper begins. At the present time few of the regulars have shown up, most of those who are out this spring are those who have played little football before and who want to learn something of the great sport before the season opens and the regulars come out.

Miss Joyce Wethered Enters Golf Finals

TROON, Scotland, May 21.—Miss Joyce Wethered, playing through champion, graduated into the finals of the British women's open golf tournament here today by defeating Mrs. Temple Doherty in easy fashion, 6 and 5.

WIN IN NINTH

The incorrigible Phillies continued to win by laying a bare, rough hands on the pitching of Dickerman and Day in the late innings and crashing their way to an 8 to 4 verdict over the Cardinals.

FREE WITH PASSES

Pitchers were absolutely philanthropic as the White Sox won as "you-please" from the Red Sox 10 to 7, twenty passes being issued of which Mack obligingly furnished six in two innings.

GIANTS BEAT CUBS

Barnes slow-balled the Cubs silly as the Giants inspired by Kelly's homer in the first with two on, stepped along into a 6 to 1 decision.

A busy man just naturally wears good clothes, maybe not to work in, but in his work, and he likes them tailored.—J. Korn, 221 S. Brand Boulevard, "Right in Glendale."

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 21.—John J. McGraw, famous "master mind" of the Giants, knows a lot about baseball, but when it comes to calling the turn on the Philadelphia Athletics, he simply "isn't there."

Back in the old days, when McGraw first came to New York from the Baltimore club of the American league, and was interviewed about the league he had just left, McGraw delivered himself of the opinion that Connie Mack had a "white elephant on his hands."

The Athletics seized on his statement and began press agenting themselves as white elephants. They even had little white elephants cut out of flannel and sewed on their uniforms. White elephants they became and white elephants they remained for many a day. That was one of the years when Connie Mack won a championship.

What could be more pleasing to the Athletics, then, than to have had McGraw dub them a bunch of white elephants again this spring?

On March 17, down in Sarasota, Fla., the Giants and the Athletics came together in a spring training game. The Giants licked them ten to nothing and sent them back to their camp at Fort Meyers, sore at heart and body.

McGraw promptly was quoted as saying that the 1925 Athletics were a slow, spiritless collection of white pachyderms, who would never get out of the second division.

Two days later the Giants dropped in at Fort Myers for a killing. They got it—on the reverse end of a 15-to-3 score. The slow, spiritless white elephants that Connie Mack was burdened with knocked four kinds of spots out of Scott, Ryan, Maun and Dean, and during the proceedings Simmons, of the Athletics hit two of the longest drives ever made by mortal man. The ball soared into a pine grove back of the playing field and if there had been a hard sand, the carry almost surely would have been 600 feet. Not even Ruth, in his palmy days, with biceps well fortified with hot dogs, could have out-walloped those two wallows.

After the game was over and the Giants were on their way home through the Florida sand, pines and palmetto, the solemn face of Connie Mack lighted up for just a moment. He watched the trail of the routed enemy and murmured:

"I wonder what he will think when they get back?"

The Athletics today are leading the race in the American league, having just ended a series of nine straight wins, with a fourteen-inning defeat chalked up against the Chicago White Sox.

For the moment, at least, they are playing just about as effectively in their league as the Giants are in theirs. In fact, the teams are playing much alike. Each is the first in its league to attain the twenty victory mark, and each has taken some healthy bites out of opponents who have been figured as their most serious rivals.

Up their sleeves, the Athletics are laughing at what McGraw said about them, and the manager is wishing McGraw could think of something more condemnatory to say.

"Every criticism from him is a boost," said one member of the outfit. "If he would just pass a few more adverse criticisms, we'd be sure to win the pennant—and lick him in the 1925 world series."

Meanwhile, Connie Mack says little. He confines himself to an occasional "I wonder what he thinks of us now?"

SISLER IS STOPPED

George Sisler was stopped by Harris and Groves after hitting safely in thirty-four consecutive games and the Athletics added to the general tragedy by beating the Browns, 8 to 6.

NINE-RUN RALLY

The Reds suddenly snapped out of it with a nine run rally in the sixth and beat the Braves, 15 to 8. Burrus had a perfect day with four singles and a homer.

PLENTY BASE HITS

Base hits ranged off the ramparts like the chattering of castanets as the Pirates, getting twenty-two hits, beat the Dodgers in a walk, 12 to 3.

Sultan of Swat Sunning

"BABE" RUTH is mingling with the sunshine daily atop St. Vincent's Hospital in New York, which he hopes to be able to leave soon. The home-run king denies he is "through," and says he'll be "on over the fence again in a few weeks."

BOWLING SCORES

The Carlocks, leaders of the City League, continued their climb last night when they took two out of three games from the Pullman Cafe. The Carlocks eased up on the last game. Clanin of the winners rolled 213 for high honors.

In the Service league match, the Kiwanis club took two out of three games from the Exchange No. 2 team. The scores:

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 21.—With the utmost gravity and aplomb, the New York State Athletic commission is about to hail a new lightweight champion of the world among the four remaining survivors of an elimination tourney. He will be named to replace Benny Leonard, the well-known and dutiful son, and it will be like driving home a needle in place of a nail.

There are four men left in the running and none of them assay more than 50 per cent. They are named, in the order of their ability, Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo; Benny Valgar of New York; and the foreign entries, Loaysea of Chile and Olano of Cuba.

Within a month one of them will be duly escorted to the throne upon which Gans, Nelson, McAuliffe, Lavigne and other immortals sat, and invited to make himself at home. No peasant in the place could occupy a more incongruous role.

Somehow, the lightweight division has been lucky in not having to do without a representative champion; but it cannot very well escape the stigma now. Whichever of the four eligibles named will not deserve to be coupled in the same company with Gans, Nelson and others.

Goodrich is perhaps the best of the lot and at one time he looked the part of a fighter. But during recent months he has been in a steady slump and only through the grace of circumstances has he reached the semi-final round of the tournament. The spectators almost ribbed when his first round match with Eddie Wagner of Philadelphia was called a draw at the end of ten rounds. But they fairly frothed at the mouth when Goodrich was named as the winner after two extra rounds. Both decisions were alleged to have been all to the fellest.

Many, likewise, did not agree with the verdict that gave Goodrich the decision over Clyde Jeakle, and two nights ago the Buffalo entry was awarded the fight when hit low by Sammy Mandell. The latter was a heavy winner on points when the foul occurred.

So much for Goodrich. He is the man who is generally favored to survive the ultimate issue, and Valgar, a light hitting, holding, safety-first young man, is next in line.

The foreigners, Loaysea and Olano can be dismissed without preamble. They are in the tourney only to give it tone and refinement or something.

Mandell, of course was the man in the list. He is wonderfully fast and his gameness is above suspicion. He is an interesting boxer to watch, and altogether is the only lightweight on view at the present who could be acceptable as a champion. The winner of the tourney will receive scant attention until he takes on Mandell in a post-series match.

RALLY WINS GAME

Frank Merriwell turned green with envy as the Indians, entering the ninth five runs to the bad, rallied around Pennock and Hoyt and slugged their way to a 10 to 9 decision over the poor old Yanks.

XXIX—Limited Diets

I will give a number of natural diets that can be followed by people with different dispositions and views and there will perhaps be a diet that will fit any one regardless of occupation or disposition.

Limited diet No. 1.—One glass of milk and a slice of real whole wheat bread. Three meals daily to be taken. The milk to be taken warm after the bread has been eaten. The slice of bread to be masticated dry. If there is not a definite enjoyment of the dry bread, take the milk only of Cheddar and Olano of Cuba. Thoroughly enjoy the dry bread. Naturally you will have to masticate the dry bread very thoroughly in order to get the "taste" out of it. Buttermilk, if it is the real thing, can be used in place of the sweet milk if desired.

Limited diet No. 2.—Breakfast, two ounces of raisins, one glass of milk. Luncheon, six dates and one glass of milk. Dinner, one very ripe banana and one glass of milk.

Limited diet No. 3.—From four to eight dates and from one to two glasses of milk three times a day. The milk and dates to be taken together; that is, take a date in the mouth and a small quantity of milk, and masticate the milk and date until they disappear.

Limited diet No. 4.—Two or three ounces of raisins and one glass of milk two or three times per day.

Limited diet No. 5.—Two ounces of any kind of sweet fruit you may select, one ounce of nuts and two glasses of milk, three times per day.

Limited diet No. 6.—Three meals daily of one ounce of flaked or ground raw grains, any kind desired, one ounce of sweet fruit and a glass of milk.

Limited diet No. 7.—One pint of vegetable soup taken three times a day.

Hoppe-Cello Matched At Hollywood Stadium

It appears all Glendale fight fans will wend their way toward the Hollywood Legion stadium tomorrow night when Tommy Cello of San Francisco will trade swats with Dick Hoppe of Los Angeles (he really lives in Glendale).

Both fighters were born in this state and when the gong rings it will be a true sectional fight like those which made the state legislature so popular during the past few months.

Hoppe was born and reared in Los Angeles while Cello had the same experience up in 'Frisco. The winner of tomorrow night's main event will likely be hooked up with a match with Sammy Mandell.

In the semi-windup K. O. Kelly will try to win over Jimmy Marcus and, if successful, will most likely pull down a main event with Mushy Callahan, who Kelly has beaten after for some time.

SENATORS DEFEATED

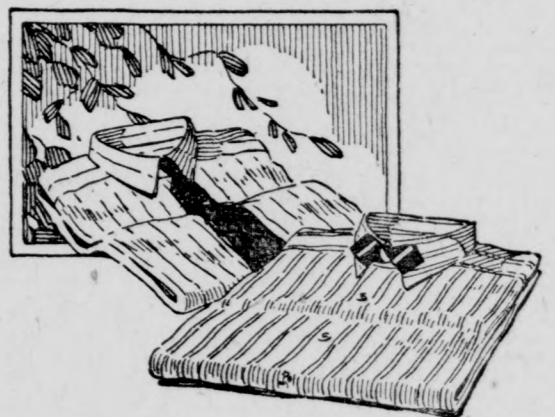

Just by way of setting a good example, Cobb opened again. Reuther in the eighth with triple and his men continued the bombardment until four runs were in, the Tigers beating the Senators 7 to 3.

THE BIGGEST BARGAIN EVER OFFERED

IN A NEW 2-STORY SEVEN-ROOM STUCCO

Owner and builder is hard up and will make a give-away price if this home is sold before May 20th; then the price goes up. Until then, use your opportunity.

In the first place, the rooms are really large and beautifully finished—solid mahogany trim, four-piece built-in bath, floor inlaid with tile, sink, tiffany blend decorations. Batchelder tile fireplace. There are two upstairs bedrooms and a large one down stairs, suitable for guest chamber or maid's room.

Aside from the construction, which will bear the closest scrutiny, you will find the location without parallel. From the upstairs balcony, a commanding view of Glendale is to be had. You will be disappointed if you wait too long. Drive out Kenneth Road 2 blocks west of Pacific, to No. 141 Hillcrest, (formerly Chester St.).

$2000 down will be considered. Balance only $500. You can't find any better in Glendale for $1500.

FRENZIED MOB STORMS JAIL FOR PAIR

One Man Dying When 5000
Seek Negroes Accused Of Killing Whites

BULLETIN
AUSTIN, Texas, May 21.—Troop C, 112th Texas cavalry, was called out this afternoon by Sheriff Marshall to protect prisoners in the Dallas county jail, it was learned here today, after the attorney-general had found a clause in the Texas law governing the National Guard that permits a sheriff or district judge to call out the militia in case of emergency. Troop C is located at Dallas.

BULLETIN
DALLAS, Texas, May 21.—Five hundred heavily armed men will guard the Dallas county jail tonight to protect Frank and Lorenzo Noel, "black terrorists," from mob violence. Sheriff Marshall said, following this morning's mob outbreak.

Any group that attempts to approach the jail to take possession of the negroes will be shot down, he declared.

"We are not going to remove the two negroes," the sheriff declared today. "We are going to stand pat and do our duty."

DALLAS, Texas, May 21.—One man is dying and six others were wounded early today when a mob of about 5,000 stormed the Dallas county jail in an effort to seize two negroes, Frank and Lorenzo Noel, brothers, being held for the alleged murders of two white men and the assault upon their women companions.

The wounded were Dwight Stewart, C. J. Tullen, K. T. Swain, N. E. Duncan, J. J. Young and Tim John, all living in Dallas.

They were rushed to a hospital for treatment. Stewart's injuries are believed serious.

About 100 agitators were arrested and taken to the city jail for examination. No effort will be made to prosecute these men, the sheriff said, as there is no direct evidence against any of them.

The first attack of the mob was launched shortly after 1 o'clock. The attacking party, armed with pistols and rifles, shot a volley against the jail building where the two blacks occupied cells. The volley was returned by police inside the jail.

LOS FELIZ WILL BE PAVED IN ATWATER

Ordinance Covering Work Is Passed by Los Angeles City Council; Sewer
Laterals Are In Along Road

An ordinance ordering the paving of Los Feliz road from the new Los Feliz bridge to the Glendale city limits was passed by the Los Angeles City Council yesterday. Bids on the work will be advertised for immediately.

With the completion of the new bridge the widening and paving of Los Feliz boulevard will be the next step in the improvement of that main thoroughfare to Hollywood and Los Angeles. Sewer laterals are already installed along virtually the whole length of the street. Paving, installation of sidewalks and ornamental street lights remain to be done.

Decorate For Shriners

Stores of the Atwater district will decorate appropriately in honor of the thousands of visiting Shriners who will pass through and visit in the district during the Shrine convention in Los Angeles. Shrine colors will be carried out in the decoration of the store fronts. An appeal to merchants who have not already planned their decorating, to do so immediately was issued today by a committee of Shriners in the district.

The Sunday school class taught by Clayton S. Decker at the Neighborhood Christian church will enjoy a beefsteak dinner in Griffith park tonight at 6 o'clock. Fifteen members of the class will be guests of Mr. Decker.

A new bell for the Christian church arrived yesterday and will be installed in a new belfry in time for use next Sunday. Men of the church have volunteered their services to build the belfry. Preparations are now being made for the observance of Children's day at the Christian church on Sunday, June 1. Special services will be held at the church on that day.

LEGION NOTES

Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, has selected the three judges for the American Legion's essay contest in California.

Those who have been named to pass upon the essays of the California school children in the national essay contest for the Legion's scholarships are: E. P. Clarke, president of the State Board of Education, Riverside; Mrs. Paul Elie, Berkeley, and R. W. Swetnam, president of the Humboldt Teachers' college, Arcata.

The judges are to select the three best essays on the subject: "Why has the American Legion, an organization of veterans of the World war, dedicated itself, first of all, 'To Uphold and Defend the Constitution of the United States of America?'" The winners of the California contest, which is open to all school children between the ages of 12 and 18, are to be entered in the National contest.

The California contest will close July 10, the contests in each county closing June 1.

Prizes to be awarded the winners are scholarships of $750, $500 and $250, in addition to suitable medals.

Miss Grace Nichols of Healdsburg, won the state prize last year and third prize in the national contest.

Throughout California the drive for the $100,000 quota in the American Legion's $5,000,000 endowment drive will go on unabated during the coming week, according to Nathan F. Coombs, state commander of the organization.

"We will go over the top in securing California's quota for the disabled and for the orphans of the war just as we went over the top in war-time," Commander Coombs declares.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

In order to better understand the economic problems of the orient Congressman Walter F. Lineberger revealed that he would visit China, Japan and the Philippines, during the summer.

However, if he were to finally arrive at conclusive opinions on the oriental, the ninth district congressman needs live in China long enough to get their psychology of life which is as incomprehensible to the foreigner as their language.

And, if one is to understand the economic condition of Japan, it is likewise desirable to live among them long enough to fathom their beliefs.

This writer has the acquaintance of people who have spent years in China and Japan. They are men well versed in history and science and still the future of these peoples is an enigma.

America opened the door to the flowery kingdom, yet today it doesn't pretend to dictate a policy on the Pacific. Germany has made several futile attempts, both from a diplomatic and economic standpoint, to make inroads in China and Japan—and failed.

Congressman Lineberger has picked upon a large job if he really means to find out how America can get on an economic footing with the six hundred millions lying across the sea from western America. One dare not say, "It can't be done," for who knows what tomorrow holds forth?

Staid old Boston is getting fed up on college humor. Two Harvard publications and one from Boston University have been censored and seized, all because giddy youth won't a little knowledge believes in sophisticating the world all at once.

Unfortunately, there are many wise people who are not sophisticated. And quite a number of them likely reside in Boston, as well as every other city, including Glendale.

An old friend once told the writer, "What people don't know doesn't hurt them." And there is no need of the youth of today knowing quite so much along certain lines if they are to be the keen-witted boys and demure girls their parents desire them to be.

KIWANIS DINNER DATE ANNOUNCED

Officers And Directors Of Club To Be Hosts On

The complimentary dinner for members of the Glendale Kiwanis club, given by the officers and directors of the club for the 100 per cent attendance during the recent international contest, will be held at the Oakmont Country club next Tuesday, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

The trophy will be awarded upon the club's attendance percentage from March 1, 1924, to March 1, 1925.

The next zone meeting will be held Monday night at San Fernando at the Presbyterian church, Fourth and McClay streets, starting at 7 o'clock, Secretary McGinnis announced. The subject will be "Duties of a Kiwanis Club Secretary." INSPECT NAVY DEFENSE AT HARBOR

Senator Frederick Hale To Visit Los Angeles Port
For Two Days

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Senator Frederick Hale, chairman of the Senate naval committee, was scheduled to arrive here tonight from San Diego to start a two-day inspection of the naval defenses of Los Angeles harbor, regarded as one of the key positions on the coast against an attack by enemy fleet.

Despite statements that Hale's visit is only an ordinary inspection trip, great interest is attached to the event by Los Angeles officials, in view of the disclosures during recent American fleet maneuvers off the Hawaiian Islands regarding the importance of "first line defenses."

ELKS' BAND GIVES CONCERT TONIGHT

Championship Musicians To Entertain Audience At Broadway High

Hundreds of Elks and their friends are expected to hear the two-hour benefit band concert to be given tonight at the Broadway High school auditorium by the Elks' state championship bandsters under the direction of J. J. Burke, conductor.

In addition to an elaborate program of band music, there will be special numbers by the B. P. O. E. quartet and dances by the Hunt sisters, advanced pupils of the Pearl Keller school.

Funds raised through the benefit program tonight will be used to take the band to the Elks' national convention at Portland, Ore., in July, when the local organization will vie with bands from all parts of the United States. Glendale's band has held the Elk lodge championship of California for two successive years and members are confident of carrying off national honors. The program will start at 8:15 o'clock. The public is invited.

HUNTER LEADING FOR QUALIFYING

Brentwood Club Golfer Has 110 Strokes For First
Twenty-Seven Holes

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Willie Hunter, Brentwood club of Santa Monica, finished the 36 holes of the national open qualifying rounds with a 147. With that score he is practically assured of being one of the representatives in the eastern classic from this section of the country. He had 110 at the turn on the second round, and 75 for the first round. Following is Hunter's card for the last 18 holes:

OUT—5 4 3 3 4 4 3 4 5—35
IN—4 3 3 4 4 5 5 5—37

Abe Espinosa, who led all contestants in the first day's play, faltered badly on his first round today, taking a 43. Espinosa, with 115 for the 27 holes, still stands a chance of qualifying if he steadies on the final nine.

Walter Young of San Francisco had a nice 75 to start the day with but took a 41 on the first nine played today. His playing partner, Willie Nicoll of San Mateo rounded the first nine today with a 38, bringing his total for the 27 holes to 118.

Joe Novak of Berkeley turned in a 37 for the first nine played today, which brings him within one stroke of the fast-going Willie Hunter. Kerrigan, playing with him also made a 37 for the same round, bringing his total to 114.

Although Harold Clark of San Francisco made a 39 on his first nine today, a 79 for the first 18 holes yesterday will probably keep him from qualifying. His total for the 27 holes was 118. Harold Sampson of Burlingame was also
